Policemen Questioned In 'Black Region' Roundup

FIVE DETROIT COPS CALLED ON 'CARPET'

Patrolmen Added to Those Suspected of Belonging to Vigilantes

DETROIT, May 28.—(UP)—Five Detroit policemen were added today to the list of persons suspected of affiliation with the vigilante Black Legion and were ordered to appear before Police Commissioner Heinrich A. Pickett for questioning.

Authorities, awaiting the appointment of a grand jury to begin its formal investigation of the Black Legion in Wayne county, disclosed they were inquiring into reports that 40 or more members of the police department had taken the blood oath and undergone initiation into the terroristic band.

Prosecutor Duncan C. McCrea said he had urged the cooperation of Pickett and other high police officials in ascertaining how many members of the force were affiliated with the vigilante band. The Wayne county official awaited a letter from federal bureau of investigation officials at Detroit replying to his request for aid in the widespread inquiry.

Under Arrest
Pickett placed his chief of detectives, Henry A. Piel, in charge of the investigation of the department. Piel has been active in the police quest for other members of the subversive organization in connection with the murder of Charles A. Poole, 32, twelve members are held for kidnapping and murder in the case, while a 13th is in a hospital awaiting arraignment.

"We have no idea how active members of the police department are in the affairs of the Black Legion," Piel said. "This investigation may take some time to complete."

Piel characterized membership in the Legion as "a vicious influence on the morale of the department." He warned that all officers who have knowledge of the Legion or its activities "had better tell about it at once."

Membership Files Seized
It was disclosed that the police officers first were implicated in Black Legion activities when membership files of the Detroit headquarters were seized. Officials declined to say whether preliminary investigation had indicated more than five were active with the robed and hooded night riders.

McCrea, who asked the aid of the federal government yesterday in his investigation of the Black Legion, said he had not yet received a reply from Attorney General Homer S. Cummings at Washington. A letter sent him by Harold H. Reincke, head of the department of justice operatives here, was not received. Reincke declined to say what his answer had been to McCrea's request for cooperation.

The prosecutor said that information concerning Black Legion activities in 15 or 18 states, and specifically in the cities of New York and Chicago, would be given to federal officials as soon as they expressed interest in the vigilante band.

Police sought 12 other men named in John Doe warrants as participants in the slaying of Poole, who was shot down by masked night riders on the night of May 12 after he had been taken "for a ride." His death had been ordered, police said, because he knew too much about the Legion. It was believed that a number of these unknown men would be taken in to custody some time today.

County authorities joined state and Detroit officials today in announcing that all county employees disclosed to be members of the Legion would be discharged.

ROOSEVELT WILL VISIT WEST COAST

WASHINGTON, May 28.—(UP)—President Roosevelt expects to be on the west coast in the late summer or early fall, Mayor Frank L. Shaw, of Los Angeles, said today on leaving the White House. Shaw came to the White House for a discussion of the works program in his city. He was accompanied by Rep. Charles Kramer, D., Calif.

DEATH IN ELECTRIC CHAIR IS DECREED FOR BATHTUB SLAYER BY N. Y. 'BLUE RIBBON' JURY

NEW YORK, May 28.—(UP)—A "blue ribbon" jury today decreed death in the electric chair for John Fiorenza, 24-year-old upholsterer's apprentice, "bathtub murderer" of Mrs. Nancy Evans Titterton, short story writer.

The jury, which was out more than 19 hours, found the pale, curly haired youth guilty of murder in the first degree, a verdict which automatically carried the extreme penalty.

Florenza bit his fingernails nervously as the jury came into the courtroom. His face was expressionless when Stuart Campbell, jury foreman, said in a low, strained voice, "guilty as charged."

Judge Charles C. Nott, Jr., announced he would sentence the youth, Friday, June 5.

The defendant's relatives were not allowed in the courtroom.

GARDEN GROVE TRIO HELD IN MARKET RIOTS

ACCUSED of participating in recent Los Angeles county vegetable marketing riots, in which several persons were injured by gunfire, Takiziro Saisho, 40, Garden Grove, president of the California Japanese labor union, and two companions, were arrested last night by Orange and Los Angeles county sheriff's officers on charges of assault with a deadly weapon.

Before the three Japanese were taken to Los Angeles to face prosecution today, Franklin Davis of the United States Immigration service placed a "hold" order on the labor union president and on the labor union president and on the labor union president and on the labor union president.

The other arrested men were Tsuchi Suzuki, 50, and Michio Kubo, 23, also of Garden Grove, the former giving his address as that of Saisho, Route 1, Box 74, Garden Grove, and the latter, as Garden Grove and Seventeenth streets, Garden Grove. The trio was apprehended as Deputy Sheriff James Ragan of Santa Ana, and Deputies H. E. Keller and M. Hildebrand of Los Angeles county, swooped down upon the trio, place at Seventeenth and Vernis streets, it was reported.

After surrendering peacefully at the residence, when the three men arrived at the county jail headquarters, they allegedly attempted to escape, officers reported. The Japanese, officers said, were riding in their truck, with the police car close behind. As the truck approached the jail headquarters, the driver assertedly "stepped on the gas" and tried to get away. They were quickly "corralled" as officers blocked the pathway of the truck, according to the report.

The arrests were outgrowth of many weeks of activity by an organization known in the citrus industry and other organizations, as the "Pickers Union." It was alleged by Los Angeles and Orange county officers. The pickers' union has been seeking establishment of union regulations among fruit and vegetable pickers. It was reported by Los Angeles officers that in the recent rioting, a united group, of which the three arrested men are accused of being members, allegedly used deadly weapons in attacking field workers at Dominguez, Los Angeles county, and were repulsed.

MUSSOLINI SEEKS NEW BRITISH PEACE

LONDON, May 28.—(UP)—Premier Benito Mussolini moved vigorously today to terminate Anglo-Italian friction and inaugurate a generation of "Roman peace" which he recognizes is necessary for constructive, profitable enjoyment of Italy's conquest of Ethiopia.

Under instructions from Dr. Dino Grandi, Italian ambassador, visited Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, to renew Italian efforts for reconciliation with Great Britain.

Grandi's visit to the foreign office followed immediately upon Mussolini's own bid for friendship with Great Britain voiced yesterday in a Rome interview with the London Daily Telegraph's correspondent.

"This Is Babies' Birthday Party Day-y"

Oldest Man In America Dies At 115

ST. PAUL, Neb., May 28.—(UP)—Solomon Rickner, believed America's oldest citizen, died today from effects of injuries received in a fall on the porch of his daughter's home, May 17.

Rickner celebrated his 115th birthday anniversary last February. His age has been verified by attorneys who investigated in order to settle an estate. Others claimed to be older than Rickner but none had such proof.

Rickner attributed his longevity to hard work and a diet of substantial food. His favorite recreation was chopping wood.

COL. ROSCOE TURNER HALTS RECORD DASH

WICHITA, Kans., May 28.—(UP)—Col. Roscoe Turner, speed pilot, today abandoned his effort to set a record between Burbank, Calif., and Providence, R. I.

A breather plug in his motor blew out, Turner said, making it impossible to continue at high speed. He also encountered storms between here and Albuquerque, N. M.

Turner said he and the plane were showered with oil when the plug gave way. He was more than a half hour overdue when he arrived here at 11:09 o'clock.

Turner said he probably would repair the plug, refuel and go to New York at a leisurely speed.

CHAMP GIRL ATHLETE BEGINS LIFE ANEW AS MAN

PLYMOUTH, Eng., May 28.—(UP)—The former Mary Edith Louise Weston, champion girl athlete, sat at home today wearing flannel trousers and explained how Mary Weston became Mark Weston—a man, by official attest.

The metamorphosis was brought about by two surgical operations performed at Charing Cross hospital, London, on the advice of a specialist.

It's Happy Birthday In Quintuplet Land

CALLANDER, Ont., May 28.—(UP)—Guardians of the Dionne quintuplets today signed a contract with a film company for the quintuplets to make three feature length pictures for which they will receive more than $250,000.

CALLANDER, Ont., May 28.—(UP)—The Dionne quintuplets, who are two years old today, celebrated their birthday unexcited by the event or by a snow storm which at times obscured their parents' home across the road from their private house.

They were intrigued by a room full of toys but didn't seem much concerned with the activity of those arranging the big celebration later today when four broadcasting chains will send out an account of the party to the world.

Today was one of the coldest May 28ths here in recent years. The temperature was below freezing and snow fell throughout the morning.

In the parish church here the Reverend Father E. E. Bunyon led a handful of worshippers in celebrating high mass for the famous children of Mr. and Mrs. Olive Dionne. The parents and three of their five elder children attended the mass, but said they had no intention of going to the birthday party at Dafeo hospital. The elder children were given a holiday from school in honor of the occasion.

At Corbelle, fifth place of the quintuplets, a large group attended high mass at the Sacred Heart church.

When the five curly-haired little girls awoke this morning one room of their private house across the road from the home of the other Dionnes was almost filled with toys, clothes, letters, postcards and telegrams sent by admirers all over the world in honor of the day.

The routine has converted them into a men's ward. After seven weeks of mingling with men I began to get the correct atmosphere. Now it seems quite natural to be a man.

"I found the alteration in my life rather difficult at the beginning. When I thought myself a girl I used powder on my face. I never used lipstick. Before the operations I always wore women's clothing. I always had a deep voice and dark skin."

Weston is a former professional masseur—or masseuse, as he was known.

LINDBERGH'S AT LINNER PARTY GIVEN BY KING

LONDON, May 28.—(UP)—King Edward was host at dinner last night to a selection of guests which made social history.

The world's most famous aviator; a prime minister; one of the richest heiresses in the world; the reigning beauty of her day, and the king's favorite dance partner were among those who gathered at the table at old St. James' palace.

Four women and one man were Americans. The guest list: Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin and his wife.

Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh. Sir Ernie Chatfield, first sea lord and chief of naval staff, and Lady Chatfield.

Lord Louis Mountbatten, distant cousin of the king, and Lady Mountbatten, an heiress of untold wealth under the will of her grandfather, Sir Ernest Cassell, banker.

Lord Wigram, the king's private secretary, and Lady Wigram. Sir Alfred Duff Cooper, secretary of state for war, and Lady Diana Duff Cooper, who as Lady Diana Manners was the greatest beauty of her generation.

The Honorable Piers Leigh, the king's equerry, and Mrs. Leigh, who was Sarah Polk Bradford, daughter of the late Judge J. C. Bradford, of Nashville, Tenn.

Lady Curzon, widow of Sir Bache Curzon, daughter of the late E. F. Burke, of New York. The first Baron established the Curzon line.

Ernest Simpson and Mrs. Simpson. She is the former Wallis Warfield of Baltimore, daughter of the late Wallis Warfield and the late Mrs. Alice Montague Warfield.

For years, Mrs. Simpson and her husband have been friends of the king, and she has been the king's favorite dance partner.

POLICEMAN CAPTURES 'JEEP'

CULVER CITY, Cal., May 28.—(UP)—Policeman A. A. Harris found the jeep today.

"I guess it's a jeep," Harris telephoned the desk sergeant. "It's brown, cries 'jeep, jeep,' has a tail like a kangaroo, sharp nose and sharp teeth and sits on its hind legs."

Scoffers said it wasn't a jeep, but a kinkajou, native of South America. Harris found the freak on the street and turned it over to the city pound.

CASE HANDED TO FEDERAL AUTHORITIES

Indictment Necessary to Bring Trio to Trial For Contempt

BULLETIN
LOS ANGELES, May 28.—(UP)—Shortly after Dr. F. E. Townsend, old age pension leader, was cited for contempt of the house today his followers in Southern California started a defense fund. First contributions were reported at Huntington Park, in the southeast Los Angeles Townsend district.

WASHINGTON, May 28.—(UP)—Politically harassed but zealous of its dignity, the house today ended a week of bickering over the defiance of Dr. Francis E. Townsend by citing the pension leader and two aides on charges of contempt.

The house voted the contempt citation by a 271 to 41 standing vote.

Efforts of Rep. Joseph Monaghan, D., Mont., vociferous Townsend supporter, to force a roll call failed.

The citation, authorizing a federal court prosecution of Townsend and his lieutenants, was the answer of the house to the defiant refusal of the trio to recognize the power of the house old age pensions investigating committee.

Two Others Cited
Those cited in addition to Townsend were Clinton L. Wunder, New York minister, and John B. Kiefer, Chicago, both directors of Old Age Revolving Pensions, Ltd., directing organization of the Townsend movement.

It was the first contempt action in the house in 23 years.

The house in no uncertain terms backed up the punishment demands of Chairman C. Jasper Bell, D., Mo., of the investigating committee.

Under terms of the citation, the case goes to the office of the United States district attorney's office for trial in the District of Columbia Supreme Court. To try the three, it will be necessary to obtain a grand jury indictment.

Conviction carries a fine ranging from $100 to $1000 and a jail sentence of from one month to a year or both.

Townsend threw the committee into confusion last Thursday, when, charging "unfairness and unfriendliness," he stalked from the room with a threat to "rot in jail" before returning for questioning even though under subpoena.

Wunder and Kiefer, under subpoena, also refused to appear on orders from the 70-year-old retired physician.

Others Threatened
Bell threatened to take similar action against other Townsend leaders if they fail to answer subpoenas when hearings resume next week.

Committee members said the district attorney's office assured them that the contempt cases would be given prompt attention.

FIORENZA IS CONVICTED OF BATHTUB DEATH

at 2:58 p. m. yesterday. They deliberated until 3:15 a. m., when they were locked up for the night in the jury room. They had breakfast at 8:30 a. m. and resumed deliberations.

The chief issue before them was the question of Fiorenza's sanity. Four psychiatrists testified for the state that he was sane. But the attorney for the defense testified that in April, 1932, three years before the murder, Fiorenza was "potentially" insane. The jurors evidently were impressed by the latter testimony, because they returned to the courtroom late yesterday to have portions of it read to them.

Judge Nott gave the jurors three alternatives. He told them they could find the defendant not guilty, or guilty of murder in the first degree or not guilty by reason of insanity. It was rumored at the courthouse that at no time did the jurors consider an acquittal verdict, the consideration centering between guilty and the insanity decision.

Defense Attorney Henry Klauber announced that he would appeal the verdict on grounds that the judge should have charged second degree murder and manslaughter as possible guilty verdicts. Judge Nott had ruled these out of his charge because, he set forth, the murder was done during commission of a felony, criminal assault.

"I think he could have put the other possible verdicts into his charge," Klauber said. "The length of time the jury deliberated is indicative of the fact that they probably would have returned a lesser verdict had they been permitted."

Judge Nott thanked the jury and said:

"As to your verdict, gentlemen, I don't think you need have any scruples about that. The verdict is not only justified but absolutely required by the evidence. The jury has rendered a public service."

CALIFORNIA MEDICS REJECT STATE PLAN

CORONADO, Cal., May 28.—(UP)—The California Medical association today rejected almost unanimously a proposal to switch control of county hospitals from their respective boards of supervisors to the state board of health.

In stormy debate that lasted past midnight, the house of delegates, governing body of the association, tabled resolutions that would change drastically the present administration of county hospitals and which was advocated as an effort to "take the politics out of medicine."

Previously, the delegates passed a resolution asking that the organization do everything in its power to prevent proposed legislation opening county hospitals to all taxpayers, regardless of ability to pay.

QUINTUPLETS, TWO YEARS OLD, ARE HEALTHY AND UNPAMPERED WITH 'NEST EGG' OF $200,000

BY ARTHUR J. HILL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
CALLANDER, Ont., May 28.—Apparently sensing the challenge to her initiative Yvonne learned that by standing on her crib she could reach an electric light switch.

The success of this venture was greater than even Yvonne could have hoped for. She turned out the lights and started her four sisters crying and brought both nurses to the run.

Dr. Dafeo had the light switches moved higher.

All Good Dish Breakers
Yvonne always had led in the dish breaking contest although, in justice to the others, it must be admitted all did very well in this department.

Emilie became particularly adept at the sport—to such an extent that her food became a secondary issue.

Dr. Dafeo solved the problem by buying unbreakable plates and cups.

Emilie has been the most destructive. She has a desire to take things apart to see what makes them go. She dislikes intensely to have a blind drawn. She seems to like sunshine and plenty of it.

It becomes an endurance test between the nurses and Emilie when the nurses think the blinds should be down.

Dr. Dafeo's conclusion on their second birthday is that the quintuplets are strong, normal babies who can look forward to long and happy lives.

They already have amassed a fortune of $200,000 which isn't bad for 2-year-olds.

Called Sensible Little Ladies
The consequence is that they are pretty sensible little ladies.

They still look so much alike that it is difficult even for those around the hospital to distinguish among them.

Fred Davis, official photographer for the five, admits that more than once they have tangled him up while he was trying to take their pictures and mark which was which.

Yvonne is the leader in most enterprises although Annette presses her closely.

Marie led in one event. She found that nursery windows made fine targets for toy blocks. Shatterproof glass, however, did not give way. She is the most determined of the quintuplets, even though she was the smallest and most delicate for several months after birth.

Yvonne the Prankster
Yvonne had the temerity to introduce practical jokes to her hospital. She picked nurse Yvonne Leroux as her victim. The nurse arose from a chair while feeding the infants and failed to look before she started to sit down again. She landed on the floor.

It was Yvonne who found the fascinating electric light plugs in the baseboards. She educated her sisters to help poke bits of paper into the plugs. Dr. Allan Roy Dafeo had the plugs moved up out the reach of the quintuplets.

DIONNE GIRLS 'PARTYING' ON THEIR BIRTHDAY

In two years from five frighteningly red and tiny bits of humanity into children normal—or above normal—in every respect.

Today Annette weighs 25 pounds, 4 ounces; Yvonne 23 pounds, 4 ounces; Emilie 23 pounds, 4 ounces and Marie 21 pounds. All but Emilie have 14 teeth, and she has 13. Yvonne, Annette and Emilie are 31½ inches tall; Emilie 31, Marie 30½.

The quintuplets' party was scheduled to begin at 2:30 p. m. (p.s.t.). Their schedule called for them to "rise" between 5:30 and 6 a. m. They bathed in 40 minutes, breakfasted, played outdoors, lunched, played indoors and napped for two hours just before their broadcast.

Cloudy skies cut short the period outdoors, but the nursery, with its special windows, to admit violet rays and its conditioned air, offered the perfect refuge.

Frazier Hunt, newspaper writer, was master of ceremonies for the party. He was one of the first correspondents to reach the two-room Dionne home in the backwoods when the quintuplets were born.

The outstanding feature of the broadcast, subject to approval by the stars, was to be a performance of the Dionne quintuplets' five-piece band. Dr. Dafeo said his charges are "really good" on a trumpet, or a saxophone.

Olivia Dionne and his wife received no invitation to the party because the quintuplets' board of guardians sent them an invitation to the party last year and were snubbed.

The Dionnes still are angry because the Province of Ontario controls the income and the lives of their famous offspring.

TRIO HELD IN MARKET RIOTS

by return gunfire of the field workers.

Sheriff Logan Jackson has in his possession a copy of a petition circulated among packing concerns, and outlining union demands.

Officers allege that groups of agitators have been sent into Orange county from Los Angeles, and other groups from Los Angeles county, into Orange county to press demands by "strong-arm" methods. Thus far, no arrests have been made in Los Angeles county in connection with "strong-arm" activities in Orange county, officers declared.

"I was in Los Angeles yesterday and interviewed ten persons in the Los Angeles county jail in connection with the rioting at Dominguez," Sheriff Jackson said. "Of the ten, eight were aliens."

The petition in Sheriff Jackson's possession is signed by Esteban Muniz, of the "Pickers Union" of "C.U.C.O.M."; Lillian Monroe, of state labor council of the Federation of Agricultural Workers Union of America, and William Velarde, of executive committee of "C.U.C.O.M."; the petition also represents the Union Federation of Field Workers and Mexican Laborers of California, and, among other things, asks an eight-hour day; 40 cents per hour; "time and a half" for overtime; rejection of minors and women for employment; abolition of bonus system and no discount of wages on unsatisfactory work.

JAMES FACES 150 YEARS IN PRISON

LOS ANGELES, May 28.—(UP)

Red haired Robert S. James, barber shop Casanova, who must go to trial next month on charges of murdering his fifth wife by thrusting her foot in a box of rattlesnakes, today faced a possible 150 year total sentence on three counts charging immoral relations with his 21-year-old niece, Lois Wright.

A jury of eight men and four women deliberated less than an hour in finding James guilty of the immoral charges. Each count carries a possible 50-year sentence.

James' attorney, Samuel Silverman, said he would appeal the verdict on the ground Superior Judge Joseph Vickers failed to instruct the jury properly after James failed to offer a defense.

James failed to offer a defense.

FEDERAL RELIEF UPHELD BY SRA ADMINISTRATOR DURING DEBATE BEFORE FORUM MEET

Defending federal administration of relief, in a debate last night at the Unitarian church, Terrance Halloran, Orange county director for the State Relief Administration, said that no county can raise sufficient money to keep pace with the mounting burden of caring for the aged and indigent.

Howard Wood, secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, speaking on behalf of county administration of relief, based his arguments on the statements that, through county administration, more adequate and better adapted relief could be extended and a lower administrative cost. He also charged that centralized relief work, through the federal government, offered the opportunity for a national administration to set up a machine that would perpetuate the administration in office for so long as it cared to remain.

Halloran and Wood were debating on the subject "Who Should Administer Relief, the Federal Government or County Agencies?" The debate was sponsored by the Forum for Political and Economic Education, W. H. Blanding, member of the Forum committee, presided as chairman.

Speaking first Halloran traced the rise of unemployment from 1932 when Congress appropriated $10,000,000 for relief of the unemployed. Later $300,000,000 were appropriated and additional sums brought the total up to $6,000,000,000. Of this amount, he said, 75 per cent was used to relieve big industrial organizations and banks. This portion of the money, he declared could be called nothing more than relief, through saving these large organizations from ruin thousands of stockholders were kept from the breadlines.

Strengthening his charge that local political subdivisions could not care for the mounting burden of relief, he cited the community programs instituted all over the nation, in 1932, to provide work for the unemployed. These programs proved to be inadequate.

Wood, in his defense of local administration of relief, that the establishment of minimum amounts to be paid families on relief have worked to bring more indigents into California. He pointed out that in 1934, when the minimum paid an average family in California was $50, the state of Oklahoma paid a minimum of $10 monthly. It was natural, he said, for every Oklahoma family on relief, that could procure an automobile to come to California where they automatically became a part of this state's burden.

This he said to California made this state the great asylum for indigents of the nation and was one of the inequalities growing out of centralized control of relief.

Wood said that the nation has passed through three other depressions in which unemployment was higher than in the most recent situation. In those other cases, however, he pointed out, the situa-

FORBES TAKES STAND IN HIS OWN DEFENSE

Having testified as a witness for the prosecution of Alexander Forbes, 49, of Anaheim, charged with negligent homicide and drunk driving, Elmer Schmidt, of Anaheim, whose two young sons were killed in the crash that resulted in Forbes' indictment by the grand jury, today was being cross-examined before a jury by Attorney Leo J. Fris, counsel for Forbes.

That Schmidt himself was injured in the crash on Palm avenue, Anaheim, last February 1, when the Forbes and Schmidt cars collided, killing David Schmidt, 9, and Milton Schmidt, 11, was brought before the jury in various ways today.

Fris was questioning Schmidt about details of the accident when he asked if Schmidt's eyesight was good.

"It was," said Schmidt, "up to the time of the accident."

Describing the crash, Schmidt said that it happened so suddenly that he could not give details as to distances and the position of the cars in the street.

The case opened yesterday in Judge G. K. Scovel's court, the following jurors being selected: Emily Schneider, Pauline Lemke, Charles E. Lewis, A. N. Stanley, John Van Rhyne, Amelia C. Peck, Mrs. Bertha Young, Evelyn King, Alice Lambert, J. H. Ouderick, Georgia B. Swan and Ethel Spaulding.

Stores Remain Open On Friday Night

Orange county shoppers who shop in Santa Ana were advised again today not to forget that Friday evening will be "Saturday evening" so far as Santa Ana business men are concerned, this week.

Due to the holiday, Saturday, all stores plan to remain open Friday (tomorrow) night on the usual Saturday night schedule, according to Phil Brown of the Business Men's association today. That means the stores will be open tomorrow night until 9 o'clock and will remain closed all day Saturday.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow for Ralph A. Mosher, 58, prominent Santa Ana citrus grower, Mason and civic worker.

Mr. Mosher, who lived at 1425 Spurgeon street, died yesterday at Sawtelle, after an illness of several months. Funeral services will be conducted at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow in the Smith and Tutill chapel.

PLEA FOR FLOWERS MADE BY LEGION

With 125 graves of World War veterans to be decorated for Memorial Day, Allison Honer, commander of Santa Ana Post No. 131, American Legion, today issued an appeal for contributions of flowers by Santa Ana gardeners.

Honer said that the ever increasing number of graves of World War veterans makes it more difficult each year to obtain sufficient blooms for the task.

Flowers may be delivered, Friday, to Memorial Hall or a telephone call to 4060, Legion headquarters, will bring a member of the post to collect the blossoms.

Friday afternoon members of the Legion Auxiliary will work the flowers into wreaths and early Saturday morning members of the post will take them to the cemetery, along with flags for each grave, and decorate the graves.

ARREST YOUTHS ON CHARGES OF PETTY THEFTS

The recent series of automobile accessory thefts from cars parked along Santa Ana streets was believed to be stopped today, following arrest yesterday afternoon of four youthful members of well-known Santa Ana families.

The youths confessed they had been taking radiator caps and other equipment from the cars for several weeks after their arrest by Officer Hunter Leach. All students of Willard Junior high school, the youths, two 14, one 15 and the fourth, 16 years old, were given into custody of juvenile authorities. Three were detained at juvenile home and the fourth, at the juvenile tank of the county jail. At their several homes, Officer Leach found a dozen radiator caps, including chromium plated "Indian," "Diana," "Keweenaw," "swan," "whippet," "fawns" and "ram." It was believed the youths are responsible for recently reported petty thefts in connection with parked automobiles.

With store reorganization just completed, Ray S. Chandler, owner of Ira Chandler and Son furniture store at Third and Main streets, today announced completion also of staff reorganization and establishment of policies for the future.

In recognition of employees' services, management and operation of this long established furniture store virtually have been turned over to the older employees, with Mr. Chandler acting in an advisory capacity, he declared.

"Chandler's future policies will be to offer Orange county residents both correctly styled home furnishings and a decorative service unsurpassed on the Pacific coast," Mr. Chandler announced. "We have an excellent group of workers, every member of which is qualified to maintain those policies to the letter."

PORTRAITS OF FATHER, SON HANG IN BOWERS' MUSEUM

A father and son, grantees who added their fame to the richness of California history, and who have, long since, retired to a better world, were re-united today in portrait form at the Charles W. Bowers Memorial museum, Twentieth and Main streets, Santa Ana.

They are none other than Don Francisco Sepulveda and his just-as-famous son, Don Jose Andres Sepulveda, whose separate portraits were painted by the brilliant Frenchman, Penelope, at the same time, in 1856, while Penelope was a guest at El Refugio, Don Jose Andres' popular rancho home, located near the south end of Artesia street.

Six weeks ago, according to Mrs. F. E. Coulter, curator, the portrait of Don Francisco was handed to her, at her request, by Lawrence Vanderhook of Altadena, the beloved Spaniard's great, great grandson. Now John G. Mott, widely known Los Angeles attorney, great grandson of Don Francisco, has given Mrs. Coulter the painting of Don Jose Andres to display at the Bowers museum, and today, his portrait was placed beside that of his father.

Interesting Coincidence
An exceptionally interesting coincidence arises in that the portrait shows Don Jose Andres astride one of his many blooded horses, wearing clothing which has been on display at the museum for some time, lent by Mrs. George Vanderhook of San Juan Capistrano, granddaughter of Don Jose Andres.

Don Jose Andres it was who first made California horse racing history on a summer day in 1852 when his "Black Swan," imported from England, ran the legs off of California's then most famous "unbeatable" racer, Governor Pio Pico's "Sarcos," and won a $75,000 wager for Don Jose Andres. It also was Don Jose Andres who acquired the famous Rancho San Joaquin, extending from Tustin to San Juan Capistrano, 33 miles square, as a land grant from the king of Spain—the same land which was purchased for $23,000 by Bixby, Flint and Irvine and which is now known as Irvine ranch.

The imported shawl which Dona Francisca Sepulveda ordered taken from her shoulders and thrown over the back of the tireless "Black Swan," after the 4 1/2-mile "race of the century," can be seen by museum visitors. It is another priceless heirloom lent to the museum by generous relatives of the famous grantees. Clothes of Don Jose Andres, on display and some of which are shown in the portrait, include trousers trimmed with hand-wrought silver buttons and clasps; dress trousers and sash, trimmed in pure silver thread braids and a capa trimmed in pure gold and decoratively applied by hand as in the case of most of his other clothing.

Saddle On Display
The pure gold and silver threaded saddle and other accoutrements, including decorated chaparras (with garters to match) which are shown in the portrait

LOWEST TRAIN FARE ARRANGED FOR FAIR DAY

Cooperation of the Santa Fe Railroad with Dr. C. G. Huston, president of the Associated Chambers of Commerce, has resulted in the offer of the lowest train fare of the year to San Diego on Saturday and Sunday as a part of the two Orange county days at the California Pacific International Exposition.

Saturday has been designated as Orange County Schools day and Sunday has been set aside for Orange County day. Special trains will be operated to the southern city on both days.

Several hundred Santa Anans and Orange county residents have qualified for trips to the fair as guests of The Register. While the majority of them will visit the fair on Sunday, making the trip in a Register special train over the Santa Fe, many of those who have qualified will make the trip Saturday in one of the special trains that will leave this county and return the same night.

Circulation Manager R. M. Conklin, announced today that the majority of the free fair tickets, already earned, have been distributed. The remainder will be distributed by Saturday noon. Conklin said today that it is not too late to qualify for the trip. All that is necessary is four two-months subscriptions to The Register. The list will remain open

THREE JAYSEE STUDENTS JOIN HONOR SOCIETY

Three language major students of the Santa Ana Junior college were yesterday evening initiated into the Santa Ana Zeta chapter of Alpha Mu Gamma honor society for work in international languages. At the same time three language students of Long Beach Junior college were also initiated.

The Santa Ana initiates are Miss Mary Wallace and Miss Beatrice Granas, French majors, and Miss Audrey Benson, Spanish major. D. K. Hammond, director of the college, was also initiated as an honorary member in recognition of his accomplishments in the foreign language field.

The initiation ceremony was held by yellow candlelight, according to the tradition of the society, in the women's lounge on the local campus. Dick Gilliland, president of the Santa Ana chapter, conducted the ceremony.

Following this, a banquet was held for the Santa Ana and Long Beach students and faculty at the Doris-Kathryn tea shop, also presided over by Mr. Gilliland. The guest speaker for the evening was Mrs. Thomas H. Glenn who spoke on "France and the French People." Miss Dorothy Graves, president of the Long Beach Gamma chapter, also spoke to the guests.

The banquet was attended by approximately 25 students and guests, gathered at tables decorated with the yellow-gold color of the society. It is the custom of the two chapters to alternate the location of the initiation ceremony and dinners each semester.

Brain Twizzlers

By Prof. J. D. Flint

A banker wishes to arrange a system whereby he can place money in 10 bags which will enable him to take away any sum in dollars from $1.00 to $1000.00 in unopened bags—that is, without splitting up the contents of any bag—What are the respective sums the bags must contain?

Answer to Yesterday's Twizzler: Bobo could make seven cigarettes. If he had thirty-six butts he could make one whole cigarette from each six butts, giving him six and from the six butts of those cigarettes he could make the seventh. Thought we were wise guys, eh?

"SPEED" OPENS AT BROADWAY THEATER

A fast moving program for the balance of the week and the weekend holidays has been booked by Manager Lester Fountain for the Broadway theater beginning tonight.

"Speed" has to do with a young inventor's discovery of a super-charger that powers the world's fastest car. In view of the fact that the Indianapolis Speedway race is being run on Saturday, "Speed" will be in keeping with the spirit of the day, in one sense of the word.

"One Rainy Afternoon," with Francis Lederer, Ida Lupino and Hugh Herbert is the second half of the double bill. It will be topped off with a color cartoon, "I Have to Take Orders From You," and a Fox news reel.

Social Arranged By Pension Club

There will be an address by Dr. Joe Nation of Long Beach, and numbers by the local high school girls' Glee club. All friends of members are invited.

At Monday night's meeting music was furnished by the WPA sewing circle orchestra, the local Townsend club orchestra and a mixed quartet of singers presented by C. L. Curry. Bulletins were read and a few short talks given.

RAD-DIO—

WASHINGTON, May 28.—It is contrary to accepted public opinion, but technical radio engineers insist that:

President Roosevelt's radio voice is worse than that of any other modern president, except Coolidge. "He gets his effects in spite of his voice by draping his arm across the microphone and talking as if he had his elbow on the mantle-piece in your parlor."

Governor Landon's radio voice and style are not the worst in politics by a long shot. Through the microphone he sounds (to the engineers) like "Ta".

The supreme Republican orator, Senator Borah, is "very bad radio." He developed his speaking style before public address systems were widely in use, and cannot tone it down.

In the same category is Vandenberg of Michigan, the second best orator in the senate. His voice

LESSON— Postmaster General Farley will not soon again call Governor Landon "The Prairie State Candidate" or anything like that. In fact, he will probably not call Landon anything, in the immediate future.

The next time he loads his gun for a shot at the Republicans, he will use buckshot instead of single bullets. And he will aim particularly at Republican candidates not other than Landon in an effort to "even it up." That much has been decided.

The truth is the New Deal strategists now unanimously agree that it was a mistake for Mr. Farley to single out Landon at all, even without identifying him as a man of the soil. It really helped Landon toward the nomination, and it may give the Kansas a good campaign cry.

Mr. Farley never makes the same mistake twice.

Note—The Farley speech was really written by Charles Michelson, greatest of political ghosts. Michelson was probably thinking of the fact that most of the Democratic votes are in the cities.

DIG A nudge for Doctor Tugwell seemed to be involved in the supreme court decision in the livestock case. No one caught it except perhaps the economic doctor and a few of the boys around the agriculture department.

What the court did was to reverse unanimously a lower court decision favoring the agriculture department order against fifty "the lower judge erred in declining to consider Paragraph 4 of livestock commission men. The court said the lower judge erred in declining to consider Paragraph 4 of charged that the matter was not considered by Agriculture Secretary Wallace but by "one R. G. Tugwell" and one "R. W. Dunlap."

The economic theory behind the order was that there are too many marketing agencies, too many salesmen and too much competition in the livestock business. At least this is what the livestock merchants charged. The theory itself was not considered by the court, which ruled on the technical point of law.

But, as one new dealer complained, upon hearing of it: "Someone is always picking on Rex."

DEAL Despite his bitterness toward

Alf Landon, Herbert Hoover's public pronouncement that he is not a presidential candidate may insure nomination of the Kansas governor on the second ballot at Cleveland.

Numerous minor bosses have withheld commitments to Mr. Landon because their subordinates and constituents had a sneaking admiration for the ex-president. They were sitting on the fence. But Mr. Hoover's statement has encouraged them to declare for the Kansas.

Several minor New York leaders have climbed aboard the Landon bandwagon since Mr. Hoover spoke out, and Washington headquarters reports that they have had similar accessions from other sections.

The Landonites have grown so cocky that they figure a smart deal for a vice presidential candidate will put their man across as it did FDR in 1932. Though Rep. James W. Wadsworth is an ideal man in other respects, he is tarred by his charter membership in the American Liberty league. The Landon people's 1-2-3 choices are Sen. Vandenberg of Michigan, Senator Steiwer of Oregon (both potential rivals) and ex-Gov. Alvin T. Fuller of Massachusetts.

RATINGS G-Man J. Edgar Hoover will soon discover that he bit off more than he can chew when he assailed Jim Farley's postal inspectors for not cooperating in catching a gangster.

On June 1 the postmaster general is expected to issue an order providing that department of justice agents can obtain helpful information only from postal inspectors. In the past local postmasters and local policemen have turned in most of the tips on thugs that showered favorable headlines on the G-men. But hereafter J. Edgar's boys must go through "channels" so as to avoid clashes and misunderstandings.

Nobody knows whether it was accident or coincidence, but Mr. Hoover's sideswipe at the extremely efficient but non-spectacular post office detectives came only a few weeks after Mr. Farley declared at an employee dinner that "the best government detectives are the postal inspectors, and the treasury agents come next." Together with many other folks at Washington, he ranked the G-men at the foot of the sleuthing class.

MUST Wags on Capitol Hill refer to the $284,000,000 flood control bill as a "vote control measure." It would have been buried deeper than Hartford, Binghamton and Springfield were by the raging waters if this were not a reelection year.

Mr. Roosevelt originally favored development of a long-time program along the lines of TVA, and wanted immediate legislation restricted to emergency patchwork. But the flood sufferers from New England to Ohio bombarded the White House with messages—one day they totalled 25,000. All demanded enactment of the measure hurriedly whipped into shape on the crest of the floods.

Smart politicians pointed out that 200 electoral votes were involved in the area clamoring for prompt safeguards against flood damage, including the pivotal commonwealths of New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio. Failure to rush through a comprehensive measure, it was felt in political circles, would land the G. O. P. a ready-made issue. That's why the bill is

MAUSOLEUM IS PROPOSED FOR LAGUNA BEACH

George H. Sanders, president of the Woodlawn Mausoleum, Santa Monica, and associates have purchased a 40-acre tract of land in the hills back of Laguna Beach from Mr. and Mrs. Joseph S. Thurston. It will be used as a site for what will be known as the Laguna Beach Memorial Park.

The sale was made through the Fred A. Leach agency and the price was not announced. The land is outside the city limits.

"Within the past month action has been taken by directors of the Laguna Beach County Water District which will make water available to our land," said Mr. Sanders, who was in the city Wednesday. "With the superb scenic advantages and landscaping possibilities offered it is our intent to develop one of the most beautiful memorial parks in America."

Mr. Sanders has been a successful builder along mortuary lines for more than 20 years and Woodlawn mausoleum at Santa Monica is said to be exemplary of its kind. In Chicago, Enid and San Jose Mr. Sanders has been head of equally successful projects. While still supervising Woodlawn it is Mr. Sanders' intent to take charge of all details of construction here and to establish residence in Laguna Beach for that purpose. Associated with him in the Memorial park project will be L. L. Arms, also of Santa Monica, formerly an eastern newspaperman.

Negotiations have been opened with A. J. Stead, engineer of the water district, for a water survey. The main line will run to a reservoir located 600 feet above sea level, and by laying laterals water can be made available to Temple Hills and the surrounding area.

"Our decision to start development here was made after a survey of mortuary statistics on the South Coast," said Mr. Sanders, "and the need for sacred ground here was brought to our attention by Grove Minter, mortician, Laguna Beach, and Roy Diver, San Clemente."

Accompanying Mr. Sanders to Laguna were Miguel Lellerman and Charles E. Kernan. Lellerman is a noted landscape artist from Barcelona, Spain, and will have charge of the memorial park planning. Mr. Kernan, who had charge of the 740-acre development at Rockwell field under General Smedley Butler, and who is associated with Mr. Sanders at Woodlawn, will have charge of local construction.

"The land is ideally suited to the project and I don't know where in California one could find a more superb view," said Mr. Kernan. "There is nothing to equal it, certainly not in the memorial park line."

39 TO BECOME CITIZENS OF UNITED STATES ON JUNE 10

The semi-annual naturalization class to be examined in superior court June 10, consisting of 39 candidates for citizenship, were notified today by County Clerk J. M. Backs to appear on that date before Presiding Judge G. K. Scovel.

Santa Ana supplies 11 members of the class, Anaheim and Fullerton nine each; three are from Huntington Beach, two from Orange, two from Brea, and one each from Tustin, Costa Mesa and Los Alamitos. Other applicants may be added to the class before the examination date, it was said.

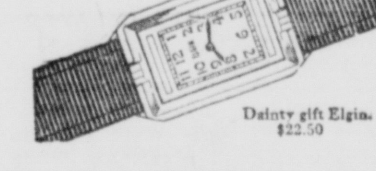

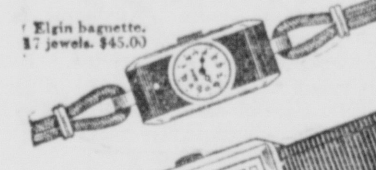

British subjects among the class are in even greater preponderance than usual, 25 renouncing their allegiance to King Edward, to become American citizens. Germany, which formerly vied with England in supplying naturalization material, has but six subjects in the current class. Two from Sweden, two from Mexico, and one each from the Netherlands, Poland, Italy and Belgium, complete the list.

The applicants are Mrs. Maria del Refugio B. Echevarria (Mexico), Auguste Eric Albert Leger (England), Vito Lovero (Italy), Mrs. Martha Haldane (England), Ann Timmins (England), Mrs. Anna May Allen (England), Mrs. Margaret Dorothy Ethelwyn Thomas (England),

Day By Day In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright, 1935)

For just a year ago the supreme court of the United States by unanimous opinion invalidated the NRA and clearly reaffirmed that the congress could not usurp the rights of the people either by assuming to itself powers over the states or by delegating to the executive the law making privilege.

The NRA decision will rank with the famous opinion of American history, but it will have an importance entirely apart from the re-establishment of legal principles. For it marked the beginning of such resurgence of faith and confidence in the future of the American constitutional system as to warrant business men, large and small, in going ahead with commitments and plans for restoration of their industries, which had for the time being, come under a government dictatorship through the code system.

While many industries had shown an upward curve before the NRA decision was handed down, it was generally believed in the weeks preceding May 27 that the NRA was on the way out, and it needed only the impetus of a strongly worded opinion on constitutionality to seal the fate of the code plan.

The impact of the unanimous decision went further, however, than to stimulate businesses that were merely at a disadvantage under the code system—it told all business and all individuals dependent on private industry for employment that the supreme court was ready to function aggressively to prevent amendment of the constitution in any way except that which was provided in the great charter itself. Such assurance was a forerunner of a pick-up in the total volume of trade and employment.

There have been differences of opinion in court since then but differences have by no means altered the fundamental, such as preservation of the rights of the states or the people. The differences rather have turned on whether a given statute did or did not in a given case operate in such a way as to appear to violate a constitutional precept as handed down in previous cases.

Some justices have thought the facts did not justify a belief that the constitutional principle was being violated, other justices have thought the facts did justify such a belief—but in all instances the fidelity toward the maintenance of the constitutional balance of powers has been uniform and unanimous.

Perhaps the best illustration of this point is to be found in a case handed down this very week on the subject of municipal debt. It was a 5 to 4 decision. On its face it looks as if five justices thought this federal law violated the rights of the states and the other justices did not object to a violation of states' rights.

Actually, Justice Cardozo, who wrote the minority opinion, expressed himself just as zealously about protecting the rights of the states as did Justice McReynolds who wrote the majority opinion. The difference was in the judgment given to the facts and the way in which the statute had operated or would operate.

Not only are differences of opinion inevitable but there must be a decision to establish what is or is not the supreme law. A 5 to 4 decision makes the majority opinion just as binding as when an act of congress is passed by a margin of one vote or when a bill that has been vetoed by one man—the president—fails to become a law because one member of the senate or the house less than the requisite two-thirds of both houses fails to vote to override the veto.

"Our special concern," wrote Justice McReynolds, "is with the existence of the power claimed—not merely the immediate outcome of what has already been attempted. And it is of first importance that due attention be given to the results which might be brought about by the exercise of the power in the future."

Thus, if municipalities can go into a federal court and with court permission virtually repudiate their debts, confidence among future investors in the borrowing power of states as well as cities will break down. The supreme court ruled in the gold-clause cases that the government could not in conscience impair its own contract. Neither can a city or state do so with the connivance of the federal authority.

But how can cities revise their debt structure, then? Justice Cardozo speaks of reasons of "practical convenience" and cites the case in which municipalities that cannot increase their taxing area have gotten themselves. He refers also to the minority of creditors who block a settlement and of the relief intended to be given against such abuse by the new federal statute governing municipal bankruptcies.

In a nutshell, Mr. McReynolds insists that the supreme law must be maintained and if necessary the constitution changed in the proper way to prevent hardship in the future. But Mr. Cardozo is tempted, as apparently are his associates, by the rule of expediency. Since the question turns on whether the states' rights are really violated, the minority of the supreme court felt safe in recommending that the law be held valid. They felt states' rights were amply safeguarded.

The layman will then ask if the result could have been achieved in a constitutional way. Certainly, a government that can prevent two or more citizens from conspiring to restrain trade can enact laws to punish those engaging in a conspiracy to block a reasonable settlement of claims offered to a court or some other arbitral body by a municipality. Likewise, states themselves have the remedy to make a voluntary debt agreement with creditors that could not be successfully attacked as inequitable.

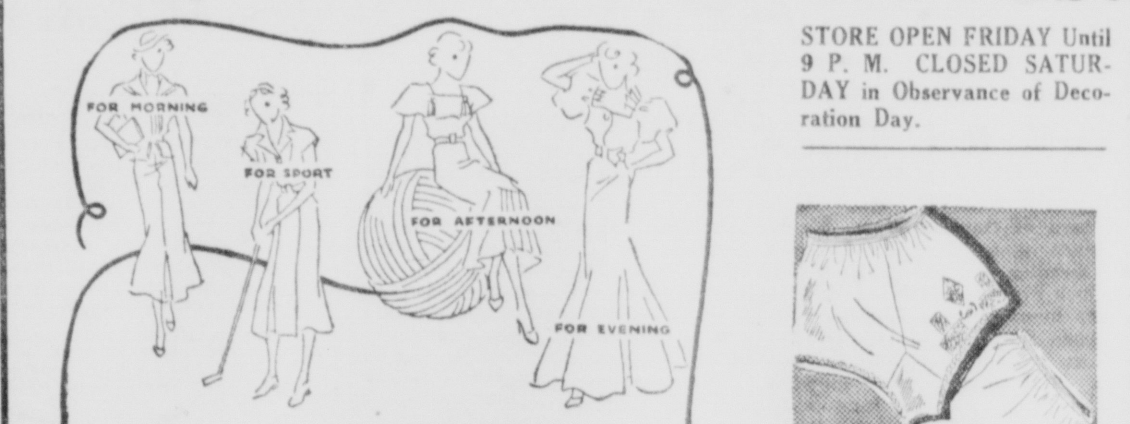

Where there is a remedy—and in the last resort there is—the method of constitutional amendment—a majority of the justices feel disinclined to take away the people's rights by judicial decision. They prefer to err on the liberal side, which is really the side that preserves the constitutional rights against arbitrary assumption of power by legislatures, national or state.

HOLD PRIMARY ELECTION FOR JAYSEE POSTS

The list of 18 competing candidates for officers of the Associated Students of the Santa Ana Junior college was shaved to four remaining students in the primary elections staged yesterday. Of the four, John Ramirez and Vic Rowland are racing for the presidential post; while Kenneth Nissley and Bill Sheppard are left in the battle for vice president.

Miss Betty Lee won out as secretary for next semester in the primaries, defeating Miss Charlotte Mock by a small margin. Miss Lee is social commissioner of the Associated Students this semester and also president of the Las Menas women's service club. Neil McDaniel was unopposed in the race for treasurer, Ramirez and Rowland eliminated Bill Grechener and Bob Bradley in the proxy competition also by small margins, as did Nissley and Sheppard defeat Bob Spray in their division.

The finals in the hot competition will be staged Wednesday, June 3. Meanwhile the campus is kept tense with the campaigns of the sponsors and managers of the candidates.

PROGRAM FOR CITY BARBECUE AND BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION IS ANNOUNCED BY ROD BACON

A fanfare of melody with several bushels of "wise-cracks," topped off by six acts of professional entertainment, including Tenor Lawrence King, will feature "50 years of progress" in Santa Ana, at the barbecue and Golden Jubilee to be held at Municipal Bowl Wednesday night, June 3, it was announced today by Rod Bacon, who is joint Pooh-Bah with Phil Brown, in making general party arrangements.

At a given signal, Plummer Bruns, who is handling arrangements in connection with the aviation feature, accompanying Floyd Wright and eight or ten other Orange county aviators, will swoop down over the bowl green to unload hundreds of roses, orange blossoms and other flowers upon the crowd. At the same time, Mrs. Russell Hardcastle, leader of the American Legion auxiliary drill team, her team, and another team of Royal Neighbors, headed by Mrs. I. H. Pennington, will march into the arena to release scores of gaudy, gas-filled balloons. Their maneuvers will be only the opening gun of the program which is to follow immediately after the barbecue feast at which more than 2000 are expected to attend, and for which tickets are now available at the city hall.

The popular master-of-ceremonies, Frank Drumm, will be at the "controls" when the program gets under way.

"We hope that those who do not attend the barbecue won't forget the bowl grandstands are situated perfectly for a view of the complete performance," Bacon declared. "The stands should be packed. The service clubs have pooled their funds, set aside for the entertainment, and the entertainment acts, to come here from Hollywood, are the result."

The program includes the following: Gillette revue, a half-dozen Hollywood dancing beauties; Lawrence King, tenor; Elmore and Sims, "wild man" comedy act; vocal men's quartet; roller skating comedy act, and a second act by the Gillette girls. A six-piece orchestra, including piano, drums, violin, trumpet and two saxophones, will provide music during the repast and during the performances. Frank Drumm will direct the show throughout the evening, assisted by an elaborate public address system which will "set the show in your laps even though you're in the grandstands," according to Bacon.

The 30x30-foot stage will be located centrally in the arena; for the barbecue dinner tables, Roy Runnels of the Central Lemon association, Villa Park, has made available 1600 lemon boxes and the Hayward Lumber company, Santa Ana, has loaned 10,000 lineal feet of 1x12 lumber. W. K. Duffy will be in charge of serving the dinner.

After the "air raid with roses," the aviators will return to Martin's airport and thence, back to Santa Ana to be special barbecue and jubilee guests. James Sleeper has been named chairman of a committee on "old-timers" and he, George Peters and others, are con-

BALLOT SEEKS INFORMATION ON CANDIDATES

Purportedly coming from "a group of northern Orange county citizens," but actually sent from Whittier, a point outside the territory interested, 4000 "prospective sample ballots" were said to have been mailed today to voters or Orange county, seeking their preferences among prospective candidates and issues to appear on the ballot this year.

The ballots are returnable to T. H. Hogue, whose address is a Whittier postoffice box. Hogue's name does not appear in the Orange county directory.

"An expression of pre-election opinion" was desired, according to announcements mailed to the press.

Because of the outside origin of the ballots and the anonymous character of the announcements, the move promptly aroused political suspicion in various quarters, where it was regarded as possibly a move by some candidate to gather campaign material.

Some of this suspicion centered upon the congressional group because of the fact that, although the ballot carried the names of "potential" candidates for the various offices to be filled this year, the congressional list did not include one of the most prominently mentioned prospective candidates, Assistant District Attorney James L. Davis.

"If some prospective rival candidate wanted to show that Davis was lacking in political support, this would be a cute way to give out that impression," one observer pointed out.

Since Davis was the only prospective candidate for any of the various offices omitted from the ballot, excepting an obscure San Bernardino candidate, some observers were inclined to trace the ballots to the congressional group of candidates.

Issues listed on the ballot included the sales tax and single tax question, local option, tide-land drilling, the Townsend plan, and Sinclair's "Production For Use."

Candidates listed were: congressional—Joe Seymour, Riverside; Ray Adkinson, Sam L. Collins, N. E. West and Maxwell Burke, all of Orange county; assembly, 75th district—Leo Sheridan, Robert Hatfield, Thomas Kuchel, Lloyd Verry; assembly, 75th district—Clyde Watson, Joe Peterson, Jimmy Utt; state senate—Harry Westover, Thomas McFadden, Joe Smith, Elmer Guy; supervisors—third district—W. J. Carmichael, Leroy Lyon, William Schumacher, James Tuffree; first district—Sam Preble, William Jerome, J. A. Cranston.

AGE HAS JUST BEGUN!

ALONG MEMORY LANE

Wonder what a Santa Ana sports editor thought about ten years ago today?

Let's spin the calendar back a decade and investigate what they were doing here in May 1926.

Bob McKean, Harold Breeding and Harvey Bear were in the track and field headlines. Breeding ran second in the mile at the Southern California and State prep meets, beaten only by Inglewood's Cecil Ferguson. Bear took a fifth in the 220. . . Johnny Cross even then was making tennis news. He and Miss Thelma Patton were playing in the Ojai tournament. . .

Santa Ana high school had a chance to win the Orange County baseball title until knocked off by Pasadena. "Tex" Rister was pitching for the Saints, and other regulars were Orelia Schuchard, Jerry Heard, Ed Daley, Harold Pea, Chet Siegel, Warren Sullivan, Ben Kernal and Melvin Beatty. . . A little English cricket player named Jimmy Mansfield broke in sensationally as a City League pitcher for Lee's Fountain, lured here at a couple of dollars a game by shrewd Earl Jones. Other pitching stars were Walt Jordan, Carl Trusty, Tom Hill, Wayne Nelson, Ray Price, Horace Snow, "Tex" Bergman and "Benny" Wilcox. . .

There was talk of organizing an all-star club to represent the city in a proposed Orange County Night Ball league. Among those mentioned for positions were Nelson, Snow, Wilcox, Bill Cole, Darwin Scott, "Memphis" Hill, Rudy Romo, Don Jerome, Luther Babcock, "Buck" Fippes, Ed and Leavitt Daley, George Preble, Everett and John Lutz and Gene Hitt. . .

Mark Lacy defeated Hugh Shields for the President's Cup at the new Santa Ana Country club. . . Santa Ana entered a women's team composed of Madeline W. C. McCord, Harry Gaspar, W. E. Patterson, Walde Andersen, Norman Walker and Grace Miller in the Pacific Coast Bowling Congress at San Diego. . .

Spring football practice was under way at Santa Ana high school under the supervision of "Chuck" Winterburn, who leaves the Saints to go to the University of California. . . Assistant at Santa Ana high school was appointed to succeed Winterburn. Tackle Dean Miller was elected to captain the 1936 Saints. Only three other lettermen—Siegel, Selway and Guy Harvey—will be back in the fall. . .

M. J. Berg resigned as coach at Orange high school to accept a similar spot in the Santa Monica school system. . . Charles Webster and Graham Harris promoted an A. U. track meet at Poly field, the place of resistance of the program being a special relay in which Charley Borah of U. S. C. was one of the runners. Al Claves of Santa Ana Jaycee won the open 100 in 16.1 seconds. Everett Lutz won the pole vault at 10-0. . .

The St. Louis Browns optioned pitcher Dennis White of Santa Ana to a club in the Middle Atlantic league. . . "Shorty" Smith had his Fullerton prep ball team in the Southern C. I. F. playoffs as usual. "Buddy" Forster was the pitching ace of the Indians and Floyd Hatfield and Willard Hershberger were hitting the ball hard. . .

Coach Graham Harris of Santa Ana Jaycee announced a 1936 football schedule that included games with La Verne, Oxy, Fresno, Loyola varsity and San Diego Army and Navy academy as well as Pasadena, Pomona, Riverside and Fullerton colleges. . . Ed Daley, young Saint infielder, was offered a $4000-a-month contract to sign with the St. Louis Browns. . . "Tuffy" Tyrrell of Santa Ana was batting well over 300 for the Tulsa Western leaguers. . . The Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce was to have "Red" Grange, famous Illinois football player as a guest of honor at a big booster banquet in June. . .

BETTER THAN PINKERT?

"Beans" Russell, called the best blocker Southern California football teams have had since Ernie Pinkert, is expected to be a great help to Howard Jones' 1937 squad. A freshman back from Oklahoma, he already is said to be able to move opponents out of the way of a ball carrier better than Pinkert. . .

Haynes Fails To Impress

CARNERA AIDES BREAK BOTTLE OVER HIS HEAD

BY HENRY McLEMORE

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
NEW YORK, May 28.—Leroy Haynes, the big job out of Philly, they have been beating the drums for as a "black menace," is only half of what the brethren who handle him claim.

He's black, who's nuff, but he's no menace, except maybe to a mess of pork chops, turnip greens and a pan of hockeas. He proved he wasn't ready to scare the wits out of any tonight heavyweight last night when he beat on helpless old Primo Carnera without success. Carnera stayed in there eight full rounds with Leroy, and when he finally gave way in the ninth it was a sprained ankle, and not punches, that stopped him.

That sprained ankle, by the way, was one of the most bizarre injuries ever suffered by a man. When it came Old Satch was standing out in the middle of the ring, stone still, and resting squarely on the cross ties which serve him for feet. Just what twisted it in this position is likely to ever remain a mystery.

Track Coach Amazed
Lawson Robertson, the celebrated track coach, and a keen student of the structure of athletes' legs, said it was the most amazing piece of business he had ever seen. I forget which ankle it was, but that doesn't matter. At least I don't think it does, being as Old Satch's head doesn't even matter, so why should an ankle?

When it went bad on him, Primo limped about after the manner of a redwood tree assaulted by termites, and his handlers, who have been so, so solicitous of his welfare throughout the years, tenderly assisted him to the corner and broke a bottle of water over his head, just as if he had been a ship sliding down the ways.

The bad ankle came as a relief to the customers, for they had grown weary of seeing Leroy "menace" the big boy without success. A chap at the ringside with a flair for figures counted the clean, right-hand chunks Leroy landed on Primo's curbstone chin, and at the finish announced the total of his tally as $7. Now anybody who failed to flatten Primo with 87 throws of his Sunday punch is no menace. Three or four is par for the Carnera course, and there is no excuse for such a score.

Haynes Not Very Subtle
Particularly, when they are the kind Leroy uses. Subtlety is not part of Leroy's make-up. He wraps each right-hand punch in a special package, variegates it a bit behind him and then, with a tremendous "ugh!" lets it fly. Carnera is perhaps the only boxer in the world against whom this type of punch would be effective. Anybody else would duck it for there is ample time, but Primo seems absolutely surprised when it whips him on the profile. His big eyes blink, his 18 snaggle teeth rattle violently, and he paws the air with his huge fists for his assailant.

Leroy did his best work in the first round and for a moment it seemed as if Carnera might amuse the customers with one of his artistic collapses. But a ring post caught him as he wavered and he weathered the storm. Haynes nailed his man with an even dozen high, fast ones in this round, and the fact that Primo held his feet is proof positive that the Philadelphia is a "second Joe Louis" in the publicity bluffs only. Let Louis box Primo with a dozen rights—well, he simply couldn't do it unless they waived the rules and allowed him to administer the last ten while Primo was stretched on the floor.

Da Leg; He Go Dead' Cries Primo, Through

BY GEORGE KIRKSEY

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
NEW YORK, May 28.—Leroy Haynes blasted Primo Carnera into pugilistic oblivion last night but the achievement caused only mild tremors in the heavyweight division.

Again Carnera quit under fire. His face distorted in pain, one of his massive legs paralyzed and his giant body away from him as he groped for support, Carnera stumbled across the ring 40 seconds after the start of the ninth round and mumbled surrender to Referee Artie Donovan.

Seventeen thousand persons paid $23,686 to see the fight. Haynes, who had been fighting a winning but unimpressive battle, was dumbfounded. He hadn't hit Carnera a punishing blow in the ninth round. Back in the dressing room, Haynes said: "I didn't know what was coming off."

Carnera abandoned the battle, he said, because his left leg went dead. It wouldn't hold up its share of his 265-pound frame. Five huskies carried him to his dressing room. They dumped him on a rubber table, and Carnera mumbled: "The leg—he go dead. No feel nothing. Paralyzed. Feel like piece of wood."

Three physicians examined him, poked him in vital spots, thumped him and there and jabbed a safety pin three inches long in his left leg. Primo didn't move. The pin was jabbed in his right leg, and Primo yelled: "Hey, quit that!"

The doctor pricked Primo from the toes of his left leg nearly to his waist but he showed no visible sign of pain. The doctors decided that Carnera's left leg had been temporarily paralyzed by a blow. One of them said:

"A blow to the kidney might have done it or he might have been twisting away from one of Haynes' right hooks when a left to the stomach stopped his movement and paralyzed a nerve center."

Carnera is through with the American ring. He sails for Italy next month, and probably will embark on a wrestling career in Europe.

DONS LOSE BUT LONG MARCHES SATISFY COOK

BY MARVIN SPICER

Gazing into the future, those who witnessed last night's football game between Santa Ana Junior college and Pomona college's varsity were today optimistic in their predictions as to how the Dons would fare in the 1936 Eastern conference grid race.

Although his men dropped the contest 14-7, Coach Bill Cook was one of the most cheerful of the spectators as he thought back over the performance.

Pomona received its scoring opportunities through "breaks." In the second period an intercepted pass enabled the Sageshens to score by a pass from Jack Nixon to Jack Merritt. The performance by this pair of Jacks was particularly gratifying to the Pomona coaching staff as the boys are sons of Eugene Nixon, Sagehen athletic director, and Earl Merritt, head football mentor. Pomona's other score came in the third quarter when De Venney plunged over from the three-yard line. Conversions in both cases were good.

Dons March 80 Yards

However, it was Santa Ana that supplied the class of the contest. Although outplaying and outgaining the Sagehens all the way, it was for the third quarter that the Dons saved their fireworks. Receiving the ball on their own 20, the Cookmen put on an unsustained drive of 80 yards that did not end until Joe Hauptert had flipped the piskin to Fred Lentz for a touchdown. This same combination supplied the point after touchdown. In the drive the Don quarterback gave a fine demonstration of choice in plays. Alternating with off-tackle slants and end sweeps featuring Fullback Al Lamb and Herbert, the Santa Ana offense literally ripped the Pomona blockade to smithereens.

The next time the Dons grabbed the ball they opened another onslaught that missed a score by a hair when Herbert's pass was intercepted by Merritt on the Pomona goal.

On the offense the whole jangle backfield looked good. Lentz was sticky-fingered in snatching Herbert's passes while Art Craft and Bob Holmes appeared at home in their new positions at inside and outside half. Dick DeSmet at blocking half, Carroll Joy and Ray Slides also performed well in the backfield.

The work of "Rusty" Roquet, Anaheim high school tackle, was particularly pleasing to Cook. Bob Spray spent most of the evening Pomona runners in their tracks. Howard Rash, Carl Benson, Sam Bragg, Dick Connell, Ray Devine, Harry Stanley and Ray Waer also played well.

It appeared certain today that the Whittier freshmen will come here on Sept. 25 to fill the vacancy left by Pomona's withdrawal from the Dons' schedule.

PROTEST SIGNING OF SCHOOLBOY BY SEALS

OAKLAND, May 28.—(UP)—New protests against raids by professional baseball teams on high school and college squads were threatened today after Ernest Raymond, 16, third baseman at McReynolds high school, was signed by the San Francisco Seals of the Pacific coast league. The youngster is a brother of Bill Raymond, formerly with the Oakland Oaks.

Pedro Montanez, who has won 15 straight lightweight battles, is to tangle with Frankie Kliek in New York June 8.

Sullivan Jr. Sensation With Indians

NEW YORK, May 28.—

(UP)—Billy Sullivan Jr., Cleveland catcher, appeared destined today to reach the heights attained by his daddy, who was the top-notch major league receiver when he played with the Chicago White Sox about the turn of the century.

Billy, who came to the Indians from the Cincinnati Reds this year, was used only for relief duty and as a pinch-hitter when the season began, but the roles are reversed now, with Frankie Pytkal warming the bench and Sullivan behind the plate.

Hitting the ball at a .443 clip, Billy leads all American league batters. His only rival for American league honors is "Buddy" Lewis, 20-year-old rookie with Washington, who is making his major league debut with a percentage of .388.

Sullivan continued his assault upon American league pitching yesterday, getting five hits—three singles and two doubles—in Cleveland's 12 to 2 victory over St. Louis.

The Typists overwhelmed the Smith-Corona, 27-6, at the Municipal Bowl last night just before their warmest rivals, the Green Cats, spoiled the perfect record of the Southern California Telephone company's "Thank You" girls, 13 to 6.

ANAHEIM AT IRVINE

Irvine makes its bid for a place in the "moon" in the Orange County Night league race tonight. The Beanpickers take on Anaheim's league-leading club at Irvine.

Anaheim has a powerful entry. Ted Neja, Richie Kramer and Al Kohler, former National leaguers, appear in the lineup, with Lloyd

Battling Bantam To Turn Pro Next Week

The greatest amateur bantam-weight fighter in the West—Lupe Cordoza, the Pacific Coast's nominee for the Olympic Games—bows out of the simon-pure ranks tonight at the Orange County Athletic club when he steps into the ring in the last of an eight-bout program to trade punches with El Centro's ace scrapper, Lupe Rios.

Cordoza and Rios are scheduled to box four rounds or less in one-half of a double main event, and win or lose Cordoza bids farewell to the amateur class to launch a professional career either at Hollywood or the Olympic auditorium within the next two weeks.

A vicious, two-fisted little miller, the Pomona Panther—fell short of representing the United States at Berlin, but his slashing fights in the trials at Cleveland and in the semi-finals at Chicago will not be forgotten soon by Eastern fans, nor will some of Lupe's hair-raising battles in this section.

Tonight, in the opinion of his manager, "Dad" Nace, Cordoza will stage his greatest ring battle and if Rios lives up to his reputation as a willing mixer fans are apt to see a whirlwind battle from the outset.

In the first half of the twin bill, Oliver McCarter, Orange middleweight, gets his first crack in a top flight spot and a fair to middling scrapper in "Wild Willie" Walker of San Bernardino.

McCarter has scored four kayoes in five starts and looms as the biggest fistic find, aside from "Wildman" Vargas, uncovered in this county. Should he win tonight, efforts will be made to land him one of several leading middleweights for a main event two weeks hence.

The balance of the program, all four rounds, show Ken Holiday vs. Julian Estrada; "Wildman" Vargas vs. Ralph Morales; Maxie Moore vs. Marcus Ray; Paddy Quillen vs. Young Moreno; Flash Flores vs. Art Blanco and Ray Placentia vs. Al Estrada.

Lichtenwalter pitching. Ira DeBusk will work for Irvine. Brea and Placentia are favored in the other games. The standings:

FLUSH OUT 15 MILES OF KIDNEY TUBES

Medical authorities agree that your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. Kidneys should empty 3 times a day and so get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste.

If you have trouble with too frequent bladder passages with scanty amount causing burning and discomfort, the 15 miles of kidney tubes may need flushing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pen and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait. Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and help to flush out the 15 miles of kidney tubes. Get Doan's Pills.

COUNCIL MAKES PLANS FOR CITY STREET IMPROVEMENTS; DELAY PURCHASE OF FILTERS

ORANGE, May 28.—Provision for the maintenance of a number of major streets and plans for resurfacing and grading several thoroughfares of the city were made at an adjourned meeting of the Orange city council last night with Mayor A. Cruxton Boice in the chair.

W. K. Hillyard, acting city engineer, explained to members of the council that funds expected to be received by the city in 1936-37 from the state one-quarter cent gas tax must be tentatively budgeted and the plans for the expenditures submitted to the state before the city's budget is adopted the first of August. Plans for the allocation of the fund were made by members of the street committee, Street Superintendent W. J. Richardson and Hillyard.

Funds Total $6865
The money to be used was estimated at $6105 to which was added $760.45 left from last year, totaling $6865.45, which may be spent any time during the year or which may be allowed to accumulate. Plans made by the street committee were approved by the council and are for the surfacing of Batavia street from West LaVeta to Walnut avenue, at a cost of $1200; grading and surfacing of Walnut avenue from the Santa Fe tracks to Tustin avenue, one and a quarter miles for a width of 36 feet at a cost of $3100. The money remaining will be used for maintenance of other streets.

A resolution was adopted to request the county for gas tax money allocated to the city which totals $2,506.25 to be used as follows: Culvert on Cambridge street and Walnut avenue, material and labor, $74; culvert on Shaffer street and Walnut avenue, $57.70; culvert, Pixley street and Maple avenue, $35.73; oil and gravel, West LaVeta avenue from Glassell to Batavia street, $940.50; oil and gravel, West Palmyra avenue from Santa Fe tracks to Batavia, $204.70; oil and gravel, West Walnut avenue from Santa Fe tracks to Batavia, $154.70; grade, oil and gravel, Culver avenue from Glassell street to Cambridge street, $1209.85; oil and gravel, East Palmyra avenue from Waverly street to Tustin street, $629.20. All prices quoted were estimated costs, it was stated.

Patrolman Employed
Chief of Police George H. Francis was authorized to employ Jack Sanford, former patrolman, as a relief officer while members of the force are on one week vacations. Seven officers including the chief, and in addition, Miss Billie Muflemann, desk sergeant, will have vacations for the first time in two years.

F. L. Ainsworth appeared before the council stating that a plate glass window in a building of which he is owner, had been broken. The window is on the southwest corner of the plaza. A rock, washed from the torn up plaza on to the pavement in front of the Ainsworth building, was struck by a passing car and catapulted through the window. Cost of damage was set at $42. Ainsworth was informed by the city attorney that the city was not responsible for the damage.

Frank Dale, city building inspector and assistant assessor, asked for a month's extension of time in which to complete assessments which was granted, without extra salary. The work must be completed July 1. City Clerk T. H. Elijah stated that a greater building activity had delayed assessing.

Seeks Pole Removal
R. L. Procht, who operates a service station at the corner of Almond avenue and South Glassell street, stated that Councilman J. C. Riley had promised him that a high tension pole owned by the Edison company would be removed when Glassell street was resurfaced, as it obstructed entrance to the station. He wanted it placed on the opposite side of the street on the corner occupied by the Orange County Fruit Exchange.

The exchange through the secretary C. E. Skiles, had filed a protest against the pole's placement at the corner, George Gilmore, Edison company representative, stated that the pole carried an 11,000 volt transmission line, which supplied power to the city's ornamental lighting system. Councilman Lester and Randick were ordered by the mayor to make an investigation.

Purchase of filters for the plunge at the city park was delayed until a meeting to be held June 1. W. A. Hammett of the Permit company of Los Angeles, submitted a price of $2770 for four filters to be placed outside the basement where they are to be installed or in the basement at a cost of $2820.

JIMMY FIDLER in HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, May 28.—Memories that bless and burn: When Pola Negri crashed front pages with her dramatic tears following the death of Rudolph Valentino. She proclaimed loudly that they had been in love. When Ben Turpin floored audiences simply by staring into the camera (or did he?) with his crossed eyes. When Tom Mix adorned his new yachting costume with gold buttons, and informed any and all that they were solid. When Lew Cody, trying to click his heels in imitation of German director Eric von Stroheim, smacked his ankle bones together and splintered the right one. He walked with a cane for days.

When Sue Carol made her movie debut as a Turkish harem girl, for which role she wore a few square inches of lace and a smile. Mamma telephoned from Chicago ordering Sue to quit pictures. When Wallace Reid created a sensation by applying for license for his chauffeur to carry a pistol; Hollywood's first bodyguard. When

Joan Crawford told reporters, "Douglas (Fairbanks, Jr.) and I married for love, and we're not going to let Hollywood spoil that." When Rudolph Valentino's sideburns caused half of the world's youthhood to instruct barbers to "leave it on the side."

The fate of movie fat men has been disastrous. Success has touched but few, and those few hovered but briefly amidst their glory. First of the tubby-weights to tan in fame's sun was John Bunny. He was still beloved, although fame had waned, when he died. Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle's rotund figure carried him to stardom a decade ago. He became involved in a scandal that crushed his career and heart alike. He tried a comeback, but failed in spirit and health. He too died, in 1933.

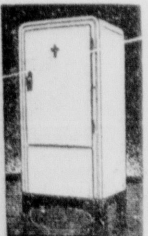

Walter Hiers and Willard Louis succeeded to the throne of Arbuckle although neither attained Roscoe's popularity. Hiers' studio which had employed Arbuckle, made the serious error of exploiting Walter as "Fatty Arbuckle's successor." The idea boomeranged and knocked Walter's hopes flatter than a church soprano's high C. Louis was more successful; his outstanding picture was probably "Main Street." Both Hiers and Louis are now dead. All of these fat fellows died young.

I suppose it is silly, but I believe the unfailing ill fate that has befallen fat men on the screen has something to do with the fact that studios today are not over-anxious to build new hefty-weights to stardom. Like the stage, the film industry is highly superstitious.

Met Mary Kornman this morning. A few years ago, when I first saw her, she was the child star of "Our Gang" comedies. That was in 1921. She confided to me then (she was still wearing ribbons on her head) that the nicest man in the world was her father, a cameraman named Gene Kornman. She must have meant it, because today she is the wife of another cameraman, Leo Tovar.

CEDAR CHESTS AT HORTON'S STORE ARE MOST MODERN

With furniture of modern design rapidly increasing in popularity, it is interesting to note that at least one alert manufacturer of cedar chests has lost no time in presenting his product in modern guise. The Lane Company, Inc., makers of Lane Cedar Chests, widely known for their exquisite period designs, is now creating equally beautiful patterns in the modern mood, finishing them in the finest of unusual veneers, according to the J. C. Horton Furniture Co., who have just received a shipment of new Lane models. Today it is a simple matter to find a Lane Cedar Chest to harmonize with any bedroom, whether it adopts the Early American, the Georgian, the Louis XVI or the typically modern feeling.

A new type of aroma-light construction, and the automatic and double-acting trays which are proving so successful, are other recent developments which the manufacturer has introduced in Lane Chests. Still another unique feature is the fact that The Lane Company furnishes an insurance policy against moth damage with every chest sold.

Anaheim Ready For Postoffice Dedication Rites

INSPECTION OF BUILDING WILL CLOSE PROGRAM

Tomorrow afternoon will see the dedication of Anaheim's new $70,000 post office with elaborate ceremonies planned and nation-wide recognition already taken of the event.

The program will be held at 2 p. m. at the new building located on the north side of Broadway just west of Los Angeles street. Members of the family of every former postmaster, with one exception, will be present for the occasion and will be introduced. They have been looked up and invited by Mrs. Mary Coons, whose parents were both former postmasters. Louis Hoskins is the present acting postmaster.

Musical numbers will be given by the Anaheim high school band under J. W. Williams, director, at 2 o'clock sharp. The Mozart ensemble of Anaheim high school will sing "America" with Mrs. Kate E. McCullah at the piano. The Rev. S. E. Schrader, president of the Ministerial association, will give the invocation.

Post Office History

Mayor Charles H. Mann has been asked to give the welcoming address to be followed by a brief history of the postoffice by Mrs. Coons. Mr. Hoskins will introduce the special guests and Elden R. Deering, assistant postmaster, will introduce the postal employees. For this event the postoffice window will be closed for one hour and mail delivery will be rearranged so all employees may be present.

Miss Jane Denning, violinist, accompanied by Miss Katherine McCullah at the piano, will play "Adoration." Edward Backs, member of a pioneer family, will sing "The Builder" (Cadman) and "Hail Stars and Stripes" (De Reef).

Following the music Hamilton H. Cotton will bring greetings and will introduce as principal speaker Postoffice Inspector R. C. Knox, who will talk on the post office department and will give the dedication address.

Campbell and Kelly, contractors, will present the building to Dana Q. McComb who will accept it on behalf of the United States Treasury department. Mr. Hoskins will dedicate it.

A patriotic closing will include the flag-raising ceremony by the American Legion under Major Ray E. Smith, "Star Spangled Banner" by St. Catherine's Military school.

Santa Ana's Great Real Estate Boom Of The Early 80's Recalled

Orchards and Groves Were Subdivided in Wild Selling Campaign

By Gladys E. Ashby

T. S. Van Dyke aptly says, "One who has not, as an actor, been through a first class boom has missed one of the most interesting points of human nature."

Looking back into the past from the vantage point of 1936, the boom period of 1885-87 in Southern California stands alone. It cannot be equaled by any other era of land speculation elsewhere, considering the extent of territory covered, the vast number of people concerned—and the length of time it endured. Practically all of Southern California was affected. Boom towns sprang up overnight, each boasting of its proposed new hotel, railroad connections and other advantages. Most of them also possessed a local newspaper with highly paid, optimistic editors. The extension of steam railroads and the construction of street railways (among them the Santa Ana, Orange and Tustin railway) had their contributory effects. Villages already established turned neighboring orchards and farms into town lots and laid out subdivisions wherever possible cement sidewalks, etc.

Among the boom towns of Orange county may be mentioned Arch Beach, Carlton, Fairview, Fullerton, Modena (now called El Modena), San Juan by the Sea, St. James, (Jim Town) and South Santa Ana—which included the 200 acres bounded by McCloy, Halliday, McFadden streets and Deloit road.

Streets Desplorable

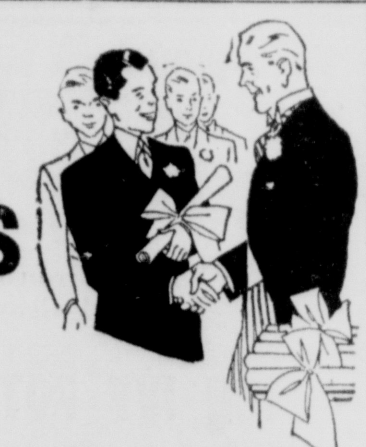

From 1870-1885, when Southern California was passing from the control of large land owners into the hands of general farmers and fruit growers, such streets as there were in Santa Ana were in deplorable condition—owing to the custom of driving cattle and sheep band, and the benediction by the Rev. Father Charles J. O'Carroll.

Inspect Building

Guests will be invited through the building at the close of the ceremony, which will last one hour. The new structure will not be occupied at the time since one detail, some wall tiling, was unable to be completed. This will probably be the only opportunity for guests to visit the building from one end to the other.

Publicity has already reached far corners of the nation among stamp enthusiasts. A special cachet cover has been made to be applied on Friday to all letters whose senders wish it. This will carry the name of Anaheim with a picture of the new building, clusters of oranges and other significant information to be permanently retained by many philatelists. Notices have been published in national philatelic magazines.

through them. It was not until the city was incorporated in June, 1886, that civic pride sought through drastic ordinances to remedy this state of affairs.

It is more than probable that the publication in 1882 of Helen Hunt Jackson's "Ramona" attracted much favorable attention to Southern California. All over the great state of New York, farmers had heard of Southern California's advantages through the medium of the Chicago Cattle fair. In January 1886, the Santa Fe railroad withdrew from the Transcontinental Traffic association which precipitated a rate war with the Southern Pacific. Tickets from Mississippi river points which ordinarily cost $125 were reduced to $5 for about three months—and for one day, at least, sold for $1.

The California winter of 1885-86 was well adapted to captivate anyone. Rains had been early and the whole land was a rolling panorama of green in mid-January. Travel increased; professional tourists, hearing that good eating houses and hotels had been established in California and that there were Pullman cars to ride in, concluded to visit this much-talked-of land. Also farmers who were tired of vibrating between the fire-place and the wood-pile, dodging cyclones and floods, came—as well as schemers, promoters and capitalists of high and low degree. While the city of Los Angeles was admittedly the center of the boom, Orange county as a whole experienced the same effects from the same causes.

Free Transportation

It became the habit for the promoters of each new subdivision to advertise in both the local and Los Angeles papers in glaring headlines announcing free transportation, music and refreshments. Tourists with well-lined pockets, as well as professional real estate men flocked to these sales and the choice lots were quickly sold. Excepting a few misrepresentations resulting from over-optimistic opinions, there was nothing analogous to former financial hoaxes, such as the South Sea Bubble and various mining stock swindles. The land bought was eventually worth all that was paid for it but in some cases was not worth the portunity to draw a beautiful cottage on a lot so good. Besides these who do not succeed in drawing a house will get a lot worth anywhere between $200 and $500. Don't delay, but secure a lot at once."

November 20, 1886:

"The Riverine vineyard has been sold and cut into lots. We learn that all the lots in the Halesworth addition previously unsold, have been disposed of. All over town property is changing hands at good figures. In all directions dwelling houses are going up, and yet the demand for them cannot be supplied. They are rented in some instances before they are really commenced. The new brick business houses now being finished give the town a progressive appearance. Many newcomers are arriving and purchasing homes. In fact, the town and valley are enjoying a genuine boom."

Among real estate transfers on this date:

To J. E. Hickey, Santa Ana Hotel and Land company, lot on Sycamore and Fourth street $12,500.

November 27, 1886:

"On Monday and Tuesday $40,000 worth of property changed hands. Henry Bristol sold his 15-acre tract, fronting on Fifth street to W. D. Turner, for $6500 to be cut up in lots. The Nash place—was sold on Tuesday for $13,500. Total for the week $102,000."

December 4, 1886:

"The Orange Investment company has been incorporated; capital stock $10,000 of which $30,000 has been subscribed. Joel Parker, John Fletcher and W. B. Forsythe, were elected directors."

"A genuine boom has struck Santa Ana. It is no mushroom growth either. It has come to stay . . . Real estate to the value of $120,000 has been sold during the past ten days. Merchants are all doing well. Large quantities of new goods are coming in and being sold at a rapid rate."

Run Excursion Trains

December 11, 1886:

"On Tuesday last, December 7, the land sale advertised to take place here by the Los Angeles and Santa Ana Land bureau was held on their grounds. Seventy-one lots were offered in the Hickey and Riverine tracts. An excursion train was run from Los Angeles bringing 275 persons, accompanied by a band of music. In two hours all lots were sold at prices ranging from $130 for "short" lots, to $500. Total sales amounted to the handsome sum of $19,965. It is generally conceded that the lots all sold at reasonable figures."

December 25, 1886:

"The Anaheim Gazette says that a rough calculation of real estate transactions in that town and vicinity last week showed a total of $20,000."

January 1, 1887:

"Transfers of real estate filed in Los Angeles for five days of last week aggregated over $1,000,000."

January 8, 1887:

"A citizen of Orange bought a lot in Santa Ana for $600. Last week he sold it for $2500 in hard coin. Pretty good interest, that. (Orange Tribune.)"

January 22, 1887:

"Mr. Swanner sold his house and lot on Fourth street to Mr. Goodwin for $4500. It is a very short time since Mr. Swanner paid $1400 for this property."

February 5, 1887:

"Fourth grand excursion and auction of the Santa Ana Land bureau took place Wednesday and was a huge success. Five carloads of people were brought from Los Angeles and all lots were quickly sold—total sales being $19,400."

From the same issue an interesting sidelight on the rivalry existing between Los Angeles and San Francisco, even at that early date, is disclosed:

Irony of Fate

"The first excursion train from Los Angeles to San Francisco, carrying a great many easterners, arrived in that city on Saturday. When they got into San Francisco they found three inches of snow on all of the buildings and five or six inches on the sidewalks. These excursion trains have been put on especially, with cheap rates, to induce eastern people coming to Los Angeles to visit the 'semi-tropic' region of Northern California. Imagine what an astonished crowd of excursionists that must have been!"

July 2, 1887:

"Last Saturday was a red letter day for Tustin. On that day nearly every lot that was for sale in the charming village was gobbed up by speculators. During last week $80,000 worth of property there changed hands at good figures—and the end is not yet."

July 16, 1887:

"Bidding was spirited at San Juan-by-the-Sea. Thirty thousand dollars worth of lots sold Thursday morning to Santa Ana buyers and in Los Angeles $75,000 was the result of one day's sales. To be on hand early and get good positions several parties remained up all night previous to the sale and $10 was offered for favorable positions in the line of prospective buyers."

Josh Parker of Orange states that during the boom the Jacoby brothers of Los Angeles came to Orange on one of the real estate excursions, of the type which furnished brass bands, barbecues and all the trimmings—and bought 20 acres for $12,000 cash, gold! Mr. C. Z. Culver built a "boom" hotel, which cost well over $25,000, just about the time the Santa Fe came through Orange.

Boom Reaches Peak

The boom reached its peak in August, 1887, although no one, passing through it realized the fact. As an example of values placed on choice pieces of real estate, Col. S. H. Flaley relates how, near the close of the boom period, he purchased the north-east corner of First and Main for $2500 cash fondly expecting to double his money within a few weeks but that for many years he could not have sold the property for $500. Consider what that lot is worth today—and what it will bring in the future! During the summer of 1888 nearly all buying except for practical purposes had ceased.

Some of the wise men from the east who came to laugh at our folly and the wreck, stood agape with wonder when they discovered that no property was put under the hammer to sell for whatever it would bring in cash. Almost every improvement begun was being finished. New stores and houses continued to be built in all the larger cities, and even outside the towns the whole country was filling with new settlers as rapidly as ever. To those who had watched the growth of Southern California for years this was no marvel, but readily understood, knowing the firm basis on which we had been building. There was no grand smash, only a settling of the foundation.

It seems inevitable that depressions must follow booms and vice versa. Let us hope that we may be guided a little by the past during the next boom, which I predict is not far off. However, the chances are that common sense will not prevail at that time any more than it has in the past. There always has been and always will be to the man or woman with any sporting propensities a desire to speculate, but to all and sundry a rising market is exciting—and irresistible.

Mother And Two Daughters Entertain For Miss Bower

Hastening to show their interest in the recently announced engagement of Miss Helen Bower and William Mendenhall, Mrs. E. C. Frandson and her daughters, the Misses Ruth and LaVonne Frandson, yesterday entertained at tea and a gift shower in their home, 2003 North Ross street.

It was an especially romantic occasion, for not only is Miss Bower to be a bride of the early summer, but the Frandson home also has its prospective bride in Miss Ruth Frandson, who likewise has suggested early summer for her marriage to Dr. Bard Daughters of Salinas.

No doubt the two charming girls gained many ideas for staging their formal weddings from the entertainment found in a mock wedding. This had its correct preliminary of music, when Miss Anne Wetherell sang "Sweetheart" and "Temple Bells," with her mother, Mrs. Harry G. Wetherell, at the piano.

Amusing Rites

Mrs. Wetherell then swung into the stirring rhythms of "Lohengrin's Wedding March" and an unbelievably dignified minister in formal ministerial attire, took his place before one of the charming flower clusters of the home decorations. Mrs. Warren Freeman took this solemn role, but quite as amusingly correct in their garb, were the flower girl (Mrs. Emily Munro) and the ring bearer, Mrs. Clarence Bond. They were followed by Mrs. Charles Fuller in a bridegroom's formal attire, and Mrs. W. F. Kistinger, whose bridal costume included a shower bouquet of vegetables—and her "bridegroom's gift" of pearl necklaces and earrings, fashioned of tiny pearl onions.

After this diverting interval, the more formal tea hour was introduced, and Mrs. John H. Bower, mother of the party honoree, and Mrs. Jennie Garner were assigned posts of honor at the silver tea service. The table was quite charming with its delicate hued flowers whose colors were repeated in the slim tapers in candlesticks matching the silver flower bowl.

Linen Gifts

As a finale to the afternoon, guests presented Miss Bower with gifts in linen, including one especially handsome set of double damask, including the large cloth and its matching napkins.

When announcement was made of the betrothal of Miss Bower, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John H. Bower of this city, to Mr. Mendenhall, son of Dr. and Mrs. W. O. Mendenhall of Whittier college, Mrs. Mendenhall was prevented by illness from being present at the announcement luncheon.

Yesterday she was able to be here for the tea and shower, sharing the hospitality of the Frandson home with her son's fiancée, Miss Bower and her mother, Mrs. Bower, Mrs. M. E. Daughters, mother of Miss Ruth Frandson's fiancée; Mrs. Roy Sparks, of Los Angeles; Mrs. Frank J. McMassters, of Baltimore, Md., here for the summer visit with her sisters, Miss Lillian E. Peters and Mrs. Hazel Frye, also among yesterday's guests.

The invitation list included also Mrs. Kirt G. Parks, Anaheim; Mrs. Ben K. Parks, Long Beach; Miss Anne Wetherell, Miss Bess Wood, Mesdames Harry Wetherell, Clarence Bond, Charles Fuller, C. E. Caldwell, Richard L. Matthews, Warren Freeman, W. F. Kistinger, Emily Munro, Myrtle Sexton, Jennie Garner, Fred Earel, Howard Taylor, W. B. Martin, Ernest Stump and A. B. Baldwin.

Calvin Coolidge made the largest number of appointments among all U. S. presidents. His appointments totaled 42,121.

Engaged Girl Selects July Wedding Date

Coming as a surprise feature of a meeting of Kappa Delta Phi sorority Tuesday night was announcement of the engagement and July wedding date of Miss Elizabeth Roehm, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Roehm of Tustin, and Lieutenant Geoffrey M. Speich, He is the son of Mrs. Carina Speich, whose home is near Copenhagen, Denmark.

The sorority meeting was held in the home of Mrs. Charles Woodfill on Lacy street. Members learned the romantic news when Miss Roehm passed a box of candy with a card which bore the names of the engaged couple together with July 5 as the selected date for the wedding.

Miss Roehm, who has been employed at Security First National Bank for the past six years, attended Whittier college following graduation from Tustin Union high school. She had her earlier schooling in this city. She has been an active member of Wyoconda Maedgen club for the past few years.

Lieutenant Speich is one of the commanding officers at the Conservation camp near El Toro. He and his bride-to-be expect to establish their home in Santa Ana.

Don Clark's Fullerton orchestra will provide music for the evening. Favors will be presented to feminine guests. Summer Visitor Arrival in late April of Mrs. Frank H. McMassters of Baltimore, Md., for an extended visit with her sisters, Mrs. Hazel Brye and Miss Lillian E. Peters, 1322 Bush street, offered two new experiences for the eastern guest. For while it was her sixth trip to California, it not only was the first time she ever came for a Southernland summer, but it was her first trip here by way of the Panama Canal.

She arrived on the President Van Buren and found the voyage quite the most pleasant way of travel that she has experienced on her various journeys westward. She also is enjoying the spring months here and anticipating equal pleasure in her first California summer.

Job's Daughters

Following a short meeting Tuesday night in Masonic temple, members of Job's Daughters went to Compton for a reception honoring Grand Guardian Ethel Palm and other distinguished officers.

In the group were bachelorettes including the Misses Fern Anderson, Mary Alice Runsey, Dorothy Carlson, Lorraine Wheeler, Virginia Bruns, Margaret Aabel, Eupha Neer, Eloise Hickey, Charlotte McCausland, Mildred Pearson, Winifred Brown; with council members including Mr. and Mrs. William Dean, Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Bruns, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Carlson, Mrs. Walter Hickey, Mrs. W. C. McFarren and Frank Sawyer.

Martha Washington

When Martha Washington club members met yesterday with Mrs. Ruth Zabel, 506 East Washington avenue, they were happy to welcome Mrs. Docia Jasper, who came from her present home in San Diego especially for the event.

Mrs. Zabel served an appetizing luncheon menu after which the members enjoyed their customary friendly session of needlework and chat. Present with the hostess were Mesdames Docia Jasper, May Jackson, S. M. Somerville, Stella Henderson, Millie West, Elizabeth Jernigan, Bess McDonald, May Curtis, Pauline Decker and Hattie Peters.

Bridal Showers Come In Compliment to Miss Lutes

Miss Jeannette Lutes, whose marriage to Halsey McCormick will take place June 7 in First Methodist church, was inspiration for two recent showers, the latest of which was given this week when Miss Vera Beers and Miss Esther Vogt were co-hostesses. They entertained at a surprise affair in Miss Vogt's home, 706 East Sixth street.

Guests' scores in two games, crotte and monopoly, were totaled at the close of the evening, when prizes went to Mrs. George Scarvie and Mrs. Floyd Hubbard, who held first and second high honors.

Shower packages for Miss Lutes were pinned to an improvised clothesline. The bride-elect had been blindfolded while arrangements were being made for this pleasant interval, which yielded her a variety of lovely towels.

Strawberry ice cream, cakes, cookies and tea were served at tables spread with white linens lighted with white tapers rising from mounds of snowy blooms. Small bride and bridegroom figures appointed the table at which Miss Lutes was seated.

Mrs. S. S. Vogt assisted the two hostesses in serving. Others present, with the honoree, were Mesdames Russell Lutes, J. W. McCormack, James Newman, Duane Smith, George Scarvie, Floyd Hubbard; the Misses Edna Ebersole, Katherine Chapman, Thelma Glascock, Venna Goodwin, Marjorie Jacques, Charlotte Stewart, Florence Ulrich, Isabel McCormack, Eleanor Redmond, Margaret Davies.

Earlier Event

Miss Beers and Miss Katherine Chapman were hostesses at an earlier event in the latter's home, 2032 North Main street. At this time, Miss Lutes was presented with an assortment of spices from the assembled group.

Monopoly and bridge were played during the evening, which was climaxed with the serving of dessert at tables brightened with petunias. In the group with the two hostesses and the bride-elect were Mrs. Floyd Hubbard and the Misses Thelma Glascock, Betty Reed, Charlotte Stewart, Florence Ulrich, Ruth Becker, Edna Ebersole, Esther Vogt.

Club Social Section Names New Officers

Mrs. C. Raymond Walter was elected leader of the Social section of Woman's club of Santa Ana Tuesday afternoon at a meeting in the home of Mrs. G. V. Linsbard, 415 West First street. Others named were Mrs. L. M. Witty, secretary, and Mrs. L. G. Holman, treasurer.

Prizes in games were set by Mrs. Margaret Church, Mrs. Hal Noel and Miss Lillian Wennstrom, who held high scores in contract, auction bridge and anagrams. Nine tables were in use for the contests.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Linsbard, Mesdames William Wells, J. G. Leibold and Frank Condon.

The final meeting of the season will be held Tuesday, June 22, when covered-dish luncheon will be served at noon in the home of Mrs. J. D. Watkins, Balboa Beach.

Parent-Teachers

Roosevelt Roosevelt P. T. A. concluded its activities for the year with two events, a regular meeting and a benefit program presented by students of the school.

During the monthly session, Mrs. Harry Pink was introduced as new president, to succeed Mrs. Charles C. Brisco. The program included readings by Mrs. M. E. Geeting, a one-act play by fifth grade students directed by Miss Margaret Grant; tap dance by Joyce Hubbard.

The benefit program as presented last week to raise funds for the association. Faculty members had planned the entertainment.

You and Your Friends

Mr. and Mrs. Will Fowler of Roseville, former residents of this city, with their grandson, Harold Flint of Roseville, are spending several weeks in the Southland. They have been visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hancock, Booth street, and with Mr. Fowler's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Fowler, 1123 South Flower street. The visitors plan to remain here until late in June.

Maj. Arthur Vollmer, U. S. A., has arrived from Washington, D. C., for a visit with his brother, Attorney Fred Vollmer, 2013 South Main street.

Mr. and Mrs. Cassius B. Cooper, of Columbus, Ind., are expected to arrive Friday by train to spend the summer with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Leive, 2419 North Main street. Miss Joanne Leive, daughter of the home, a junior student at Santa Barbara State Teachers' college, will arrive Friday.

Seven Guests Welcomed By S. O. S. Group

S. O. S. club members had the pleasure of meeting quite a group of friends Tuesday when Mrs. Charles A. Vance, luncheon hostess in her home on Main street, Tustin, invited quite a guest group to share the pleasant May session of this long established club.

Luncheon was served in the dining room, where places were indicated for the entire party at the large table, inviting with its brilliant sweet pea decorations.

Later places were found for contract at card tables placed in the living room. Mrs. Frank H. Paterson made the afternoon's high score among club guests, and received a prize. A similar gift was presented Mrs. E. E. Keech, scoring high among members.

Mrs. F. W. Slabaugh and Mrs. A. M. Gardner were absent from the membership list, which includes with the hostess, Mrs. Vance, Mrs. J. E. Gowen, Mrs. Terry E. Stephenson, Mrs. Wyckoff Hoxie, Mrs. E. E. Keech and Mrs. Edward M. Nealey. Special guests for the day were Mrs. William E. Orie, Mrs. W. Maxwell Burke, Mrs. S. M. Davis, Mrs. J. A. Prescott, Mrs. Perry Lewis, Mrs. Joseph H. Metzgar and Mrs. Frank A. Paterson.

Calumit Auxiliary

Various matters of interest were brought before members of Calumit auxiliary U.S.W.V. at their meeting Tuesday night in K.C. hall. Among these were plans for Memorial Day observance.

Flowers for this observance are to be taken Friday noon to 1041 West Sixth street, where they will be arranged in bouquets for decorating graves of repatriated veterans on the following day. Reports were given of the fine Memorial Day services to which post and auxiliary members were invited Sunday by Calvary church.

Auxiliary members responded to the invitation. The only unfortunate feature was that one of the past presidents lost her past president's pin, which if found, may be returned to any auxiliary member.

Committees appointed by the president, Mrs. Hazel Hall were Mesdames Effie Hawley, Lila Kincaid and Maudie Brown, child welfare; Katherine Baskell, Zephia Pearson and Phoebe Hyatt, reconstruction; Hattie Williams, Marie Lindquist and Cella Cook, home employment; Ruth Garst, Bertha N. Dixon and Miss Verena Bailey, hospitalization.

A life membership certificate in the auxiliary was presented Mrs. May Glaze, just completing her term as department president. The department convention was chief subject for discussion when the Sewing circle was entertained by Mrs. Mary L. Mann, with Mrs. Hattie Williams and Mrs. Rosa Bowers as co-hostesses. The next meeting of the Sewing circle will be June 10 with Mrs. Zephia Pearson in Fullerton.

Mrs. Susan Wine drew the lucky prize of the evening before members adjourned to meet again on June 2 in K. C. hall.

Party Guests Present Gifts to Honoree For Layette

Displaying interest in future hopes of Mrs. B. W. Taylor of Alhambra in delightful fashion, a group of her friends in this vicinity accepted the party invitation extended recently by Mrs. Gale Harman and Mrs. James J. Smith.

It was in Mrs. Smith's home on Tustin avenue that the guests congregated, to devote their attention to needlework for Mrs. Taylor, interrupted from time to time by amusing games introduced by the hostesses. Instead of getting a multitude of small layette gifts for the party honoree, the guests joined in selecting several larger articles that she had not yet secured for her baby.

Completing the pleasant hospitality Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Harman served ice cream molds, decorated cakes and tea to their guests who included with Mrs. Taylor, her mother and her husband's mother, Mrs. F. B. Smith and Mrs. W. A. Taylor, together with Mrs. W. B. Taylor and Mrs. R. R. Caldwell of Tustin; Mrs. Orin Smith and the Misses Bertha Belle and Marguerite Smith of Orange; Mrs. Ray Long of Anaheim; Mrs. John A. Steele of Bell, Mrs. Roland Rabe, Mrs. Jack Snow, Mrs. Richard Howland and Mrs. Mary Franzen of this city.

THE TINY MITES

Story by MAL COCHRAN Illustrations by GEORGE SCARBO

"My goodness, what an awful sound. It can be heard for miles around," said Doty, as brave Scouty rang the bell with all his might.

"I hope the bell chord will not break. Be careful, now, for goodness sake. Thus far our visit to this place has turned out quite all right."

"Haha," laughed Duncy. "You tease me for being frightened as can be, but you are scared, yourself, right now. Don't tease me any more!"

"I'm game enough to stand right here and, frankly, I'm not filled with fear. I'll gladly make the best, now, of whatever is in store."

STORIES IN STAMPS

By I. S. Klein

Capture of Hill 140

THE Germans were approaching Arras, when the French command decided to break the enemy lines and force a retreat. On May 9, 1915, the counterattack began, the objective being "Hill 140," five kilometers away, and the brunt of the fighting fell upon a volunteer legion of Bohemian patriots, called the Nazdar.

Almost at the beginning of the fighting, the Nazdar legion lost its commander, then its standard bearer, then some of the best of its men. But in 90 minutes, Hill 140 was captured, and the first great step toward Czechoslovakian independence was taken.

On this battlefield today stands a majestic monument dedicated to the memory of the Czechoslovakian patriots who died there. This monument appears on the stamp shown here, one of two issued in 1935, on the 20th anniversary of this great battle.

(Copyright, 1936 NEA Service, Inc.)

The words "sterling silver" stamped on articles of use or adornment mean silver to a definite fineness, 71.2 per cent of the metal being copper. Pure silver is too soft to withstand much usage.

LOCAL MEN TO LEAVE ON HUNT FOR WILD BOAR

Leaving San Pedro on a special, chartered boat, 11 Orange county men and about the same number from Los Angeles, will direct their course toward Santa Cruz island, off the Santa Barbara coast, on a "boar hunting expedition."

Wild boars are reported plentiful on the island, according to Dr. Roy S. Storton, member of the party, and Harry Hanson, who may make last-minute arrangements to go along.

Dr. Storton, whose collection of weapons, old and new, would "do justice" to a gunsmith, said he would take his new Enfield five-shot sporting rifle, which has a Nock scope for long range shooting. The weapon has a 4-1/2 mile range and can be used accurately in hunting at more than 1000 yards, Dr. Storton said.

The party expects to arrive at the island Saturday morning about 7 a. m. and will stay until noon, Sunday, hunting the dangerous animal. Those who have arranged to go from Orange county are "Bud" Sackett, of Anaheim, and from Santa Ana, Dr. Horton, A. C. Munsell, Fred Pope, Dr. Percy Davis, Dr. N. D. Cash, Therman Means, Charles Cramer, Sam Ross, S. E. Eller and B. A. Hershey.

NEW YORK, May 28.—(UP)—Sensational confusion over the new tax bill brought further disappointment to Wall street today and the stock market again turned listless as prices drifted lower.

Trading volume slipped under market pressure and the depression continued to develop. In early trading the market gave signs of extending the recovery and Wednesday's recovery, particularly as steel and aviation shares snapped upward, but the buying was not sufficient to overcome the over and even some of these issues lost their gains.

The market was without any new business developments to serve as an impetus to trading.

The foreign monetary situation continued tense as the French franc sold at the gold price and international supplies of gold had been engaged for shipment to the United States and as the result of the stock market operations. The price of bar gold in London dropped to a new low since November, 1934.

THE GASOLINE TAX

It is probable that most members of boards of supervisors and city councils as well as others in direct contact with highway problems understand what becomes of the gasoline taxes collected from the motorist when he visits a service station. To the average motorist, the distribution of these taxes is wholly unknown.

Most people assume that the gasoline tax goes to the State for purposes of highway construction and that, of course, is the immediate disposition of the tax money. How many know that the State is merely a collector for the counties and cities and federal government and that the state highway department gets but one and a half cents out of each four cent per gallon tax payment?

That, in fact, is the case. The distribution of the four cent per gallon tax is as follows:

- To the counties, one cent
- To the cities, one-half cent
- To the United States, one cent
- To the State, one and one-half cents.

Out of this one and one-half cents, plus some additional revenue from motor vehicle licenses and federal allocations, the state highway department finances all new construction and maintains the 14,000 miles of highway now in the state system.

The highway department, during recent years, has found itself with a steadily increasing mileage through additions to the system made by the legislature and a decreasing share in the funds collected in gasoline taxes.

It has found itself, also, under the necessity of maintaining higher types of highway, due to increasing traffic demands and the necessity of greater safety factors. The elimination of curves, the building of underpasses, the marking of traffic lanes, snow removal on mountain routes, all add to the cost of highway building and maintenance as a result of increased traffic.

Having been in a position to observe the working of the highway department for some years, it is my view that it is one of the most efficient of the state agencies. It has provided good roads at a minimum of cost. In fact, California's highways have proven the model for many other states.

THE 'HUMAN' COURT

Why there should be any consternation because the U. S. supreme court justices are not unanimous in their vital opinions on New Deal legislation is certainly not readily apparent.

Experts in all fields of knowledge almost invariably have disagreed. Is it logical to assume that an important body such as the supreme court, composed of men of varying experiences, should reach unanimity in everything it does?

Chief Justice Hughes himself said recently in an address before the American Law Institute: "It is not possible that in the interpretation and application of complicated principles of law they (the justices) should be all of one mind, or be able, on demand, to rise above their environment so as to function in a higher region of icy uncertainty."

Divided opinions merely testify to the infinite complexity of the legal process as modern civilization has devised it.

CRIME ON THE RUN

It is getting almost tedious, this business of recording the triumphs of the G-men. Karpis, Campbell, Mahan, and now Robinson; the last kidnapping case is closed, and some of the most brilliant police work performed in any country on earth has been completed.

The impressive thing about the performance is the grim certainty of the federal men's pursuit. It is this, rather than the severity of the punishment handed out, that can be relied upon to check crime.

Once it becomes known that major crime will certainly be avenged sooner or later—that the law will stay relentlessly on the trail for years, if need be, giving up only when the quarry is behind the bars—then you are likely to see the much talked-of "lawlessness" in America vanish like morning mists beneath a hot sun.

Editor Register:

In the absence of other answer or comment, I respectfully submit a few thoughts, and cite some authorities, on the subject of Trial by Jury, discussed disapprovingly by Guy J. Gilbert, a "Guest Editor" of the Register recently.

Mr. Gilbert complains that the jury system has been in operation so long we never pause to consider how inadequate it is, and that "it is difficult to imagine a more illogical way of trying facts than by a jury of men and women selected as they are." It would seem, upon reflection, however, that such an important subject may not be disposed of so briefly and summarily.

Trial by jury has been advocated and approved by eminent lawyers, jurists, historians, philosophers, legislators, journalists, clergymen, educators and publicists, and their opinions and conclusions are entitled to respect, for the same reason that one who questions the political or economic opinions of Gladstone, Bismarck or Bryan, or disputes the theological doctrines of Becher, Talmage or Cardinal Manning, might appropriately exhibit deference in doing so.

It has never been contended that trial by jury is an infallible method of deciding questions of fact in court trials, for like every human it has infirmities; but it is the safest and surest method that has been discovered for the punishment of guilt, and the best protection for innocence; and if any one thinks that there is no danger of an innocent person being wrongfully convicted, let him try to explain why so many constitutional and statutory safeguards are thrown around a defendant, and designed to protect against such an outcome.

For the decision of disputed questions of fact in civil cases, the cumulative wisdom of modern civilization likewise points to trial by jury as the best system that has been devised. The number of jurors is small enough to impress upon each juror a sense of individual decision and responsibility, but large enough to enable the patient, impartial and determined judgments of the greater number thereof to overcome and prevent any hasty, intemperate or biased action of a few.

A jury is well qualified to consider and weigh evidence—the facts, and to determine what is the probable, the reasonable, the natural motives, in actions, and in results, as indicated by common human experience. They quickly understand the difference between suspicion and proof, between belief and actual knowledge. Further, jurors possess an innate

"100% MONEY"

Irving Fisher's, professor of economics of Yale university, last book is entitled "100% Money." On the frontispiece, under the title, it says: "Designed to keep checking banks 100% liquid; to prevent inflation and deflation; largely to cure or prevent depressions; and to wipe out much of the national debt." A great plan.

The plan is based on the theory that banks, under past and present banking laws, are really mints coining what the author calls "pen and ink check-book money," which has the same effect on price levels as actual currency. The author points out that, in the past, banks were permitted to issue bank notes used as currency without having proper reserves. Older citizens still remember this kind of money, which might be good and might be of little value. This practice by individual banks of issuing more currency than the banks had reserves was stopped by the federal government putting a tax of 10 per cent on these transactions. Down through the ages, there has been much abuse of the privilege of bankers or goldsmiths issuing more warehouse receipts for the deposits than the gold they had on deposit. This invariably resulted in inflation of prices and collapse in the depositories practicing issuing money in greater amounts than they had on deposit.

Professor Fisher points out that now the issuing of paper currency is under control; that banks have adopted the policy of creating credit by permitting the borrower to be giving credit for what he borrowed on the books of the bank without, in any way, reducing the actual currency on deposit in the bank.

He used the illustration that if a bank starts out with $100,000 capital, it can, by this method of issuing credit to the borrower loan $100,000,000 and still have the $100,000 on deposit in cash; that since the federal reserve act was passed in 1913, the banks do not even need to have the 10 per cent of currency, required by law, in reserve on hand. The banks can now have the 10 per cent required as reserve on deposit with the federal reserve and the federal reserve need only keep 35 per cent of this reserve in cash. In this manner, a bank that has loaned a $100,000,000, payable on demand in checking accounts, has, in reality, only $35,000 in cash with the federal reserve. The author points out that in this manner the reserve is, in reality, only 3 1/2 per cent of the bank's demand obligations. It is pointed out in the book that this permitting banks to create this "check-book money" on such a small reserve, rapidly increases the synthetic money in times of expansion and just as rapidly decreases the "check-book money" when debts are paid off; that this rapid increase, of course, results in great inflation and the decrease results in great deflation.

To remedy this, the author proposes that the banks be required to keep 100 per cent currency in reserve to take care of all these credits given to the borrowers, which are payable on demand. The author proposes to establish a "currency commission" and give them the authority to issue money to the amount of this check-book money.

As to the practical working out of the plan, it is too complicated to go into in a short editorial.

The purpose, however, of stopping the 14,000 banks from having the right, in reality and effect, to coin money and to destroy money at the will of the borrowers and banks, seems to be very clear. It is generally agreed that a comparatively uniform price level is desirable and that money (or what is used as a substitute for money) being a storage of wealth, when it is increased or decreased rapidly makes it advantageous for people to retain their money and not exchange it for things when money prices are going down, thus transferring wealth from one class to another without the production of wealth and working a great injustice on borrowers and throwing uncountable numbers of people out of work.

The Constitution gave congress the right to coin and regulate the value of money and it certainly has had serious results to have congress permit bankers and borrowers to increase and decrease the volume of money (or its substitute) causing prices to rapidly change. This privilege certainly should be taken from the banks.

The theory of 100 per cent reserve back of demand deposits, seems to be a wise step in the right direction.

We Will Carry Every State—Farley sense of justice and ordinarily desire to do what is fair and right in a case.

Abraham Lincoln had extensive experience with jurors, and he declared that a jury's verdict can always be trusted when it has had a fair chance to hear and consider all of the evidence.

Jeremiah Black, a Justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, said of trial by jury.

"It has borne the test of a longer experience, and borne it better, than any other legal institution that ever existed among men. . . . It has had the approbation not only of those who lived under it, but of great thinkers who looked at it calmly from a distance, and judged it impartially. Montesquieu and De Tocqueville speak of it with an admiration as rapturous as Coke and Blackstone. Within the present century the most enlightened states of continental Europe have transplanted it into their countries, and no people ever adopting it once were afterwards willing to part with it."

John F. Dillon, eminent jurist and legal author, in his work on the "Laws and Jurisprudence of England and America," at page 167 says:

"In my judgment a jury is both a valuable and essential part of our judicial and political system. . . . Twelve good and lawful men are better judges of disputed facts than twelve learned judges."

The alternative for trial by jury, as suggested by Mr. Gilbert, is trial by a judge or by judges. In important criminal cases and civil actions at law, if a trial by jury is not had, then ordinarily a trial by at least three judges would better insure a just decision than trial by one judge.

Jurors are accustomed to having their feet on the ground, and to taking a sound, practical, common-sense view of the affairs of life, of which the issues of fact in a law suit form a part. Experience has shown that they are not likely as are judges to be influenced by personal whims, or to mistake indignation for conscience, or prejudice for supernatural wisdom.

It is well known what some judges, upon election, imagine they are invested with sovereignty, that like a king they can do no wrong and are above criticism, and that the people are their subjects, and that the people are entirely unmindful of the fact that under our system of government the citizen is the sovereign, and that public officials, including judges, are public servants.

One of the legal journals, cited People v. Hamilton, 263 Ill. 399, reversed on appeal, Counsel for defendant, when arguing to the jury, was interrupted by the judge and told that he was outside the record. Again, when the state's attorney was making his closing argument, counsel for defendant objected that he was misstating the evidence, but was censured by the judge for objecting. On appeal the transcript showed that the judge was wrong in both instances.

If the judge had tried the case without a jury, it is obvious that he would have based his judgment on evidence that did not exist and disregarded evidence actually given, but on appeal the record would have failed to show that. The judge was not only in the wrong but was arbitrary, offensive and vexatious besides.

A recent case is People v. Moore, 3 Cal. (2d) 700. The defendant was tried at Los Angeles by a judge without a jury. He was charged with assault by use of a deadly weapon with intent to murder, and convicted. The shooting occurred in an amusement hall where there were many persons present, but no one saw the defendant, and unimpeached testimony showed that he was elsewhere. It did not appear that the defendant and prosecuting witness had ever met, or that defendant had any motive. The defendant, arrested for a minor offense, had on his person a gun, and ballistic experts said that metal slugs found near the scene of the shooting were fired by that gun. The defendant claimed that he had just purchased the weapon and he actually had a permit to carry a gun. Further, the one who did the shooting would not be likely to shoot the gun. It was testified that just after the firing ceased, a man ran out of an exit. The description of the fleeing person fitted the man whom defendant asserted sold him the gun, but differed widely from the defendant. It is entirely improbable that a jury would have convicted the defendant, in view of the absence of any substantial evidence against him.

These are not isolated instances, and judges are just as likely to adjudge a guilty person innocent, as well as to render unjustified decisions in civil cases—outcomes occasionally arrived at, of course, in jury trials also.

Recently the constitutionality of an act of congress, which is a part of the new deal program, was submitted to a federal judge in Kansas City, Mo., and about the same time to another federal judge in Memphis, Tenn. One judge held the act unconstitutional, and the other that it was constitutional, which suggests that the decisions reflected the personal and political prejudices of the judges.

Joseph H. Choate, leader of the American bar, appeared for the plaintiff in Stewart v. Huntington, tried in New York, Senator Roscoe Conkling representing the defendant. To the court and jury Mr. Choate stated that the defendant, Collis P. Huntington of New York and California, was "a great railroad magnate and financier who owns many banks, many railroads, many newspapers, many legislatures, many judges." It will be observed that Mr. Choate did not charge that the defendant owned any juries.

There are judges who are as fair, impartial and just in their rulings and decisions as it is within the power of man to be; but there are others as to whom it is at times utterly impossible to foretell what decision they will render on definitely known facts and plainly applicable law; and he would be deemed a reckless attorney who agreed to waive a jury trial in a major criminal case or important civil action, unless he knew what judge would try the case.

One objection of Mr. Gilbert to juries is the method of selection thereof. The statute provides that the jury panel be selected by a majority of the judges, who are also authorized to appoint a jury commissioner. It would seem at first blush that a majority of the judges should be qualified to select a trial jury panel. There is an element of chance in the selection, but that there is not a unanimous opinion that that is a valid objection is indicated by the fact that a prominent American writer and cynic recently declared that the standards of the legislatures and congress would be raised, if the members thereof were selected like jurors, by chance!

DOGS AND CHILDREN

Some ladies are always telling everybody about their children and other ladies are always telling everybody about their dogs, the only thing that can stop them being when they meet each other.

There are more different kinds of dogs than what there are children, so for this reason parents expecting to have children have to make up their mind to be more easily satisfied than people just expecting to buy a dog.

Puppies look cute when they are first born and can run around about a week afterwards, while babies sometimes never look cute to anybody but their mother and can't run around for about a year and not so good even then.

This proves a few extra legs are sometimes more practical than a little extra intelligence.

No matter how smart a dog is it never gets smart enough to be sent errands, properly being the smartest part of it.

When dogs wawk on their hind legs people think they are wonderful, but when children wawk on their hands and knees nobody admires them for it, and if they want to attract a little extra attention they have to go to all the trouble of learning to wawk on their hands. But dogs wawking on 4 legs and children wawking on 2 never even get looked at, proving you never get much credit for just being natural.

Plans have been made and a lease given for drilling an oil well on Rancho El Niguel, west of El Toro. Should the well be successful a new field will be opened up for Orange county. Plans for the work have been on foot for the greater part of a year. L. F. Moulton and J. P. Daguerre, partners, gave an oil lease to W. T. Brown and W. J. Travers of Fullerton, last October. In April this lease was transferred to San Diego men who in turn have transferred it to the South Fullerton Oil company. This company has just filed articles of incorporation showing a capitalization of $1,500,000. The lease permits the company to drill at any spot it wishes on El Rancho Niguel, which comprises 13,000 acres. The holdings of Moulton and Daguerre together total some 22,000 acres.

ROPER AND TUGWELL DISAGREE

His critics have painted Mr. Roosevelt as the Great Regimenter, but he has not yet regimented his immediate colleagues.

Mr. Roper and Mr. Tugwell are cases in point.

Mr. Roper, worried over the extensive opposition to the administration policies by business men, industrialists and financiers, made the following statement:

"I believe it is not in accordance with the tested practices of our democratic system to have any one of our dominant economic groups concentrated in support of one political party. Any other course might eventually lead to the overthrow of our democratic form of government."

Mr. Tugwell, worried earlier by the same extensive opposition of business to the Roosevelt program, made a materially different statement:

"We should succeed for once in establishing a farmer-worker alliance in this country which will carry all before it. . . . The farmers and workers must not permit themselves to be separated. There is a common cause."

I think Roper is more nearly right than Tugwell.

Democracy cannot survive an effectively organized conflict of classes.

Democracy has about succumbed to the organized blackmail of pressure groups which refuse to think nationally.

Neither industry nor agriculture can succeed if either rules the roost. Each needs, for its success, the success of the other.

A political leadership that sets one against the other instead of laboring to effect a concerted action between industry, labor, and agriculture is committing treason against the national well-being.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

WHEN IMAGINATION RUNS WILD

"I had such a grand time in school this morning, mother. I rode on Mr. Grant's shoulder all morning."

"All morning? Where were you? What were you doing?"

"We were playing. I like school. I hope I can ride on his back tomorrow too."

Mother looked at the innocent little face, all aglow with delight, and, though very troubled, forebore to say more. When she saw the head of the school she asked him what the kindergarten class had been doing that morning. "The usual things, I believe. I only saw them a few minutes this morning on their way to the playground. Why?"

"Did you speak to Charlie? Did you see him then?"

"O, yes, the class was running to the yard and he was being left behind, and I noticed his face was beginning to pucker so I hoisted him to my shoulder and ran ahead of the others with him. He thought it great fun. Did he tell you?"

"Yes, but I wondered about it. It was very kind of you to give him such a treat, Mr. Grant. I appreciate it, I assure you."

Charlie stuck by his story. "He carried me all morning, he did. It was great fun. Maybe he will do it again." In vain mother tried to get him to remember anything else that happened that morning. The one big moment had wiped all the rest from his mind. It was "all morning."

Sometimes the stories are not as happy. Jimmie reached home one noontime, panting, ruffled and excited. "What's the matter, Jimmie?"

"Miss Lulu was bad to me. Her snatched me and shook me and knocked me down, and I hit my head on the table and almost died. Her was very bad to me, her was."

"Why Jimmie, Miss Lulu would not do things like that to a little boy."

"Yes her would, Her did. Ask Coonie."

Coonie was a playmate, emotional, imaginative and dramatic. "O," said mother, "Coonie. Did he tell you this story?"

"Yes, but her did it. Her shook me and snatched me, and I fell down and hit my head on the table. Her was very bad to me. I guess I won't go back to kindergarten any more."

Mother went to see Miss Lulu to discover if she could shed any light on the amazing story. After much effort the story was unraveled. Charlie and Coonie had gone together to get their overcoats. Charlie's coat was hanging too high so he jumped for it, and coming down bumped his head slightly against the wall. Coonie jumped for it and fell, knocking Jimmie down and the two rolled over, having a great time in the wardrobe.

Miss Lulu went to see what was up, picked Jimmie up, took down his coat, shook him into it, and with a parting spank that barely dusted his coat, said, "Be off with you." The embroideries had been wrought by Coonie. Charlie liked them very much.

Little children often miss actuality when imagination, so much more delightful, takes the center of the stage. Discount all wild tales until the truth is found. The stage soon passes, leaving no harmful trace. Just take it coolly.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing a three cent stamped, addressed envelope for reply.
